

WORLD ARMS CONFERENCE ADJOURNS

United States Adopts 'Hands Off' Policy In Europe

WILL SHUN DISCUSSION OF POLITICS

Premier Mussolini of Italy Reported Ready to Aid in Reaching Agreement
GERMANS MAKE MOVE
Hitler Ready and Eager to Negotiate An Honorable Agreement, Report Says

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—(UP)—The United States government, while still anxious to further the cause of disarmament at Geneva, is determined to remain aloof from European political struggles arising from Germany's withdrawal from the League of Nations and the disarmament conference, it was stated today in a high official quarter.

This government, it was emphasized, sent Ambassador Norman H. Davis to Geneva purely to cooperate in disarmament. It was said he was not there to take any part in strictly European political questions.

Officials avoided a detailed explanation, however, of how the question of German armaments can be entirely separated from the Versailles treaty, the instruments of Germany's present limitations.

The statement of policy was not interpreted to mean that Davis will stay out of the diplomatic conversations of the next week, designed to determine whether the disarmament conference can continue in the face of Germany's withdrawal. It was emphasized that the United States will stand ready to cooperate fully if the nations decide that the disarmament conference can continue with any hope of success.

Davis is expected to shun a discussion of such questions as sanctions to be imposed upon Germany if it re-arms in violation of the Versailles treaty.

MUSSOLINI READY TO MEDIATE IN EUROPE

ROME, Oct. 16.—(UP)—Premier Benito Mussolini, author of the recent four-nation treaty guaranteeing the peace of Europe for ten years, is prepared to lead an effort to arrange a compromise between Germany and the World War allies, it was indicated today. Mussolini believed his ten-year peace treaty, of which Germany, Great Britain, France and Italy are signatories, provided a way out of the crisis.

The treaty provides for consultation in time of crisis, and had it not been for the discouraging attitude of other nations, Mussolini already would have acted under the treaty to summon a conference.

The feeling that the disarmament crisis is susceptible of friendly negotiations has caused Italian officials and newspapers to adopt a much less alarmist attitude of the situation than is apparent in other countries.

GERMANY SAYS SHE WILL WORK FOR PEACE

BERLIN, Oct. 16.—(UP)—Germany stands ready to collaborate to the limit of her resources in the preservation of European peace on any basis that will preserve her national honor, it was said authoritatively today.

ONE KILLED AND 22 INJURED IN WEEKEND AUTO ACCIDENTS

STATE BOARD MOVES TO END DRESS STRIKE

Ladies Garment Workers and Manufacturers Expect Agreement

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 16.—Action is expected today on a proposal submitted by members of the state recovery board by which it is hoped differences between striking dressmakers and dress manufacturers can be settled.

The strike, which was called last Thursday in this city by the International Ladies' Garment Workers, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor seeks recognition of the union by employers in the dressmaking shops of the city, according to strike leaders. They contend that the employers have consistently refused to recognize the union, which they assert is in violation of the NRA program, and that the workers were virtually locked out two days before the strike was called, by shutting down all work except finishing. Strike leaders also declare that the employers met union representatives only after requests from Washington.

Workers assert that promises of employers are not being kept concerning wages and that an expert who had been promised 80 cents an hour on his piece work scale received only $12.50 for 41½ hours work. The average wage on the piece work basis, even after the code was signed, amounted from $4 to $6 per week, leaders declare, and they cite an example of a girl who had worked at the trade 14 years, getting a check for $10.20 for her week's work the week before the strike.

With a closed shop the workers can enforce uniform NRA code conditions in all shops without fear of being discharged if they stand up for their rights, the workers assert.

The compromise proposal was announced by Campbell McCulloch, executive secretary of the state recovery board. While he did not reveal its details, it is understood that the union will be asked to take up complaints of its members only and that the manufacturers will be permitted to obtain employees from the open market if a proposed union labor bureau proves unable to fill requests for help satisfactory to the manufacturers.

PRISONER ENDS HIS LIFE AT FOLSOM

FOLSOM PRISON, Cal., Oct. 16.—Terence Gardner, 43, serving a 17-year term for safe cracking, committed suicide in his cell by hanging himself, Warden Court Smith reported today.

He used a piece of blanket and hanged himself to the grill of the cell door. Guards found him while making a routine inspection tour.

Gardner attempted suicide Saturday by pricking his wrist with a knife which he picked up in the prison doctor's office. He inflicted only a slight wound.

NURSE KILLED IN FALL ON STEAMER

SAN PEDRO, Cal., Oct. 16.—(UP)—Hjoerdis Lund, 24-year-old nurse, leaped or fell to her death from the Danish East Asiatic liner Europa last Wednesday night, ship's officers reported today upon arriving in port. Her disappearance was noted as the ship neared Magdalena bay.

The girl was making the passage as a governess for the children of Mrs. Douglas Wakefield, wife of a motion picture comedian. Capt. O. Dahl believed her death was accidental. The body was not recovered.

Fanless Fan Dancer Is Under Arrest

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Oct. 16.—(UP)—Sacramento, if you please, has its own fanless fan dancer.

Police records show the arrest of Mrs. Dorothy Smith and the emergency hospital report said she was "very nervous and intoxicated." Radio patrol car officers reported they found the woman standing on a street corner clad only in a fur neckpiece and a diamond ring.

She was screaming and jumping up and down, the officers reported.

AIRSHIP MACON SHELTERED IN HANGAR TODAY

"Queen of the Skies" Ends Cross Country Trip to California Base

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16.—(UP)—The 1000-foot hangar of the Sunnyvale Naval Air Depot today sheltered the nation's newest "Queen of the Skies," the silver U. S. S. Macon which flew from Lakehurst, N. J. to its permanent home here in 72 hours, 17 minutes.

An experienced ground crew, drilled in its duties for days, tied the ship to its movable mooring mast in the record time of 13 minutes after the little yellow flag fluttered earthward as the landing signal.

Thousands watched the arrival of the giant dirigible at its western base. Delayed in landing by afternoon heat which expanded its helium gas, the Macon circled the air depot and proceeded to San Francisco harbor for a Sunday afternoon visit.

Shrieking sirens greeted the ship in welcoming it to the Golden Gate.

Twenty thousand persons were assembled at Sunnyvale to witness the "walking" of the craft into the hangar.

Commander A. H. Dresel, who brought the ship across the continent, reported that the Macon had met every test on the long trip and rode safely through storms and rain "without stress or strain."

GRIFFITH PARK DEATHS LAID TO NEGLIGENCE

Special Coroner's Jury in Verdict Blames Lack of Supervision

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 16.—(UP)—A special coroner's jury of experts today found that "gross negligence" caused the deaths of 28 men in the Griffith Park brush fire of October 3.

The jury blamed negligence in supervision of the men and unpreparedness for fire.

The actual cause of the blaze was ascribed by the jury to a careless person or persons unknown.

The jury, composed of fire prevention and suppression experts from various forestry agencies in the city and county, made five general charges of negligence, as follows:

1. The absence of an adequate fire protection and fire suppression plan in the park. In detail, lack of proper equipment, fire hydrants, adequate patrols, detection and communication systems, and of trained personnel; lack of properly located and maintained fire-breaks, and general absence of preparation for such an emergency.
2. Lack of appreciation by authorities of the added fire risk created by the brush.

NEW SUSPECT HELD IN KIDNAPING CASE

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 16.—(UP)—Mose Barnett, 38, was held today while federal authorities investigated charges he passed some of the $200,000 ransom money paid kidnappers of Charles F. Urschel, millionaire Oklahoman.

Federal agents alleged the suspect knew at least one of the defendants convicted at the sensational Oklahoma City trial.

Authorities also communicated with Tacoma, Wash., and Minneapolis police to learn if he was wanted there. Police Lieut. W. L. Robertson who arrested him as he was leaving the St. Mary's University of Southern California football game Saturday, said he had jumped ball in Tacoma and Minneapolis. He was indicted in the Minnesota city on charges of murderous assault growing out of a "cleaner" and dyers' war, Robertson charged.

Death Toll For Year In County Is 40

San Diego Woman is Near Death; Two Arrested as Drunk Drivers

ONE MAN was killed, a young woman is near death at the Orange county hospital and 22 persons were injured as the result of 13 traffic accidents in Orange county over the weekend.

The death of William C. Althouse, 33, 667 South Hoover street, Los Angeles, at Dana Point last night, brought the total of traffic fatalities in the county this year to 40. He was instantly killed when the car he was driving overturned while travelling at a high rate of speed. Three persons riding with him were slightly hurt, including his estranged wife, Mrs. Marie Althouse, 31, 1321 Gleneyre Drive, Laguna Beach; Mrs. Lillian Christensen, 44, 495 St. Ann's Drive, Laguna Beach and Albert Conquist, 48, 249 Ocean avenue, Laguna Beach.

According to Mrs. Althouse, she had asked her husband to come to Laguna Beach for a reconciliation and had decided to drive with their friends to San Clemente to see some acquaintances. Coming down a hill in Dana Point, the heavy sedan got out of control, skidded 30 feet into a lamp post, and careened along the curb for 15 feet into a telephone pole. Still skidding, the machine hit a second lamp post 65 feet away and finally overturned after another swerving skid of 90 feet.

REPORTED CHANEY'S WIDOW TO MARRY

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 16.—(UP)—Hospital walls today guarded secrets of the purported romance of Mrs. Hazel Chaney and John Jeshke, former makeup man of her late husband, Lon Chaney, famous character actor.

Questioners were barred from interrogating the widow on statements of Jeshke they planned to become man and wife. Although still seriously ill, her condition today was described as improved. Jeshke appeared at the marriage license bureau Saturday with a request for license blanks. His request was refused pending submission of an affidavit from Mrs. Chaney's physician, stating she was unable to apply personally for the license.

GOVERNMENT INVITES CLOSED BANKS OF NATION TO BORROW BILLION DOLLARS FROM R. F. C.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—(UP)—The Federal government today invited closed banks of the country to borrow an additional $1,000,000,000 from the Reconstruction Finance corporation in order that this sum can be made available immediately to depositors.

Under this plan, receivers and conservators of all closed banks, including state, national and mutual savings, are invited to pledge their remaining assets with the R. F. C. as collateral for loans to pay depositors of the banks up to a maximum of 50 per cent. The loans will be used for cash payments to depositors and the R. F. C. gradually will liquidate the collateral to pay off the loan. Money for the loans will be advanced to the R. F. C. by the treasury.

President Roosevelt last night appointed a new board, comprised of the government's fiscal authorities, to carry out this plan in order that payments to depositors in closed banks be speeded.

The plan involves nothing new in the government's program as closed banks for some time have had the opportunity to obtain loans from the R. F. C. to make liquidating payments to depositors. Appointment of the board, however, is expected to hasten the process.

Delay of banks in obtaining loans in this matter has been because of belief of many of them that they eventually could reopen. Under the deposit insurance corporation pool which becomes effective January 1, banks will be told definitely whether they can reopen. Those failing to meet requirements would be expected to borrow from the R. F. C. on remaining assets and make pay-

As explained today, the receiver or conservator of a closed national bank would be told by the president's board whether or not his bank eventually would reopen. If its case was hopeless, the bank would be instructed immediately to apply for an R. F. C. loan.

In the case of state banks, which are not under jurisdiction of the federal government, it was expected that the government would suggest to state authorities to determine whether the position of any of its banks will permit it to reopen or whether it will be required to liquidate.

As an example, government officials said the plan would work in connection with state banks in this manner:

A closed state bank would be examined by the state banking authority to determine whether or not its chances to reopen were probable. If the state authority saw no hope for the bank, he would instruct its conservator or receiver to apply to the R. F. C. for a loan to make payment of up to 50 per cent to depositors. If there was some chance of eventual reopening, the bank would be allowed to remain open.

ARREST TUSTIN CITY CLERK ON THEFT CHARGES

Philip Brooks Waives His Preliminary Hearing; Held to Answer

CHARGED with grand theft and falsifying accounts of the city of Tustin, City Clerk Philip Brooks, 40, was arraigned in justice court Saturday noon, waiving his preliminary hearing and was held to answer to the superior court.

Brooks is charged with stealing $429.95 from the city of Tustin by making false accounts and entries on the official records. The offense is alleged to have occurred on August 18, following the annual audit of the city books.

Brooks is well known in Tustin and operates a clearing establishment. He was taken to jail Saturday by Chief of Police John Stanton and is being held under $2500 bail fixed by Judge Kenneth Morrison. Deputy District Attorney Leo Friis, who will handle the prosecution, will file the information against Brooks Friday.

'POWER TRUST' IS ACCUSED IN WATER REPORT

Arguments Favoring Central Valley Act Filed With Secy. Jordan

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Oct. 16.—(UP)—Official arguments in favor of the Central Valley Water Act, stressing employment and solution of California's water problems, were submitted to Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan today for inclusion in the voters' pamphlet.

A special election on the water program, devised to make possible the Central Valley Act, is being held in California.

HEIR TO FORTUNE REPORTED KIDNAPED

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—(UP)—The reported kidnaping of William Walton Hall, wealthy law student, was being investigated today by department of justice agents, who have been waging a successful campaign against kidnapers in the middle west.

Hall, part heir to a $200,000 estate and partner in the Sea Dog Inn, a fashionable night club, disappeared Friday. He had received at least four extortion letters recently, his wife reported.

Police cast doubt on the theory Hall had been kidnaped, saying there were several other plausible explanations for his disappearance. There had been friction between Hall and other heirs to the estate, they said.

SEVEN POISONED IN BEACH CLUB CAFE

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 16.—(UP)—A new campaign against the use of poisonous solutions on edible vegetation was launched today by county authorities as several victims were stricken with arsenic poisoning.

Mrs. W. Fleming of Beverly Hills was reported in a critical condition and six other persons were treated in hospitals after eating broccoli at a fashionable beach club. The broccoli had been sprayed with a poisonous insecticide, authorities believed.

Scores have been stricken in the county in recent weeks after eating vegetables which had been sprayed. Several Japanese farmers have been fined as offenders.

MEETING TO RECONVENE OCTOBER 26

Ten Days Will Be Spent in Trying to Get Germany to Return to Conclave

NEW PACT PLANNED

Disarmament Agreement to Be Drawn Up and Then Submitted to Hitler

GENEVA, Oct. 16.—(UP)—The general commission of the World Arms conference adjourned today after approving a blunt note to Germany characterizing her excuses for quitting the conference as "invalid," and voting to reconvene on October 26.

The meeting was a perfunctory, empty gesture, but it attracted an overflow attendance of diplomats, delegates and an army of observers and reporters recording the end of the first phase of the world's attempts to reach European harmony.

The adjournment was marked by a single note of optimism. As the delegates prepared to rise, Arthur Henderson, president of the conference, said to them:

"I hope you will return prepared to write an arms convention."

The phrase suggested the only way apparently open to achieve any results from the next conference—individual negotiations between the nations, looking to a pact which may be signed by all the governments except Germany, and which may then be submitted to Chancellor Adolf Hitler for his acceptance or rejection.

Two Objectives

The conference thus has 10 days in which to put forth intensive efforts to achieve one of two objectives:

1. To persuade Germany to return to the family of nations, through the pledge of a compromise.
2. To arrive at a disarmament convention satisfactory to all Europe, without the inclusion of Germany, and so impressive that Hitler will be forced to join or find himself outside the European pale.

No German delegates were present at the general commission's meeting.

SCREEN ACTORS IN PROTEST ON CODE

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 16.—(UP)—Rejection of the proposed NRA code for the motion picture industry was asked of President Roosevelt today by members of the screen actors' and screen writers' guilds.

More than 1500 actors, including many of the leading stars, protested the code in a blunt statement to the president, citing as objectionable articles 9 and 10. The statement was ordered telegraphed at a mass meeting of members of the two groups.

"The provision for salary control and black-listing assume screen actors are irresponsible racketeers whose salaries and conduct must be controlled by methods unprecedented in law," the telegram said. "The purpose of the proposed code is to do what the NRA forbids to fix maximum rates of pay. This is so un-American in conception that it makes one shudder to think it is being seriously considered in Washington."

ALLEGED HOARDER TO GIVE SELF UP

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16.—(UP)—Federal authorities were assured today that Mrs. Effie L. Martin, Fresno, named in the first gold-hoarding warrant issued here, will surrender.

John D. Martin, her son and attorney, announced that the missing woman will accept service of the warrant. Martin contradicted a federal agent's assertion that his mother had $80,000 in gold in a safe deposit box.

"No such amount is involved," Martin said. "There was no intention of infraction of the law by my mother."

the expenditure of $170,000,000, which may be provided by federal funds under President Roosevelt's national recovery program, will be held December 19.

The official arguments, signed by Senators Bradford S. Crittenden, Stockton; Frank W. Mixer, Bakersfield; J. I. Wagy, Bakersfield; and Assemblyman Charles W. Dempster, Los Angeles, claim the main opposition to the project originated in the "power trust."

To Employ 25,000

Proponents insist the project would give immediate employment to more than 25,000 men for at least three years, "thereby affording a livelihood for approximately 100,000 persons."

"This tremendous aid to unemployment relief and economic recovery in California will be accomplished without a single dollar of cost or obligation to California taxpayers," the statement said.

"All costs of the entire program will be defrayed through federal aid and a revenue bond system, or self-financing plan, which requires that revenues of the project pay for the project. Selfish interests undoubtedly will seek to confuse and mislead the voters on this aspect."

Solves Problems

The Central Valley project takes up where the Boulder Canyon and Metropolitan aqueduct left off, spreading its benefits over a 500-mile area extending from northern California into Southern California. It will solve the water problems of the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys and the San Joaquin basin area for a generation to come.

The proposed project consists of a 420-foot dam at Kennett, near Redding; a conduit from the delta to Martinez to furnish water to industries along Suisun bay; a series of dams on the San Joaquin river to supply water to the upper valley, and a large dam at Friant, near Fresno, with canals leading north and south.

Proponents claim thousands of acres would be saved from "returning to desert" navigability of the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers would be increased; the project would produce hydro-electric power at a low cost, made available to farmers, home owners, industrialists and cities.

Acceptance of the plan by the voters, the arguments said, would mean California would receive an outright grant of $45,000,000 from the federal government.

George S. Smith Surgical Patient In Emergency Case

George S. Smith, member of the Smith and Smith Funeral home firm, widely known business man, was reported to be successfully recovering today from a major operation performed at the Loma Linda sanitarium yesterday morning.

He was taken ill suddenly Thursday while at his cabin at Big Bear. He was taken to the Loma Linda institution because physicians advised him to travel no further before receiving hospital care.

WITNESS TELLS OF BLAST ON AIRPLANE

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—(UP)—A new eyewitness account of the explosion which wrecked a United Airlines passenger plane with loss of seven lives near Chesterton, Ind., was given department of commerce investigators today.

Francis Wiseman, an Indiana farmer living near Chesterton, said he was watching the plane when he saw a terrific blast that tore the ship in two.

Wiseman's account strengthened the belief expressed previously by federal investigators and officials of the air line that a bomb or other high explosive had wrecked the ship in midair.

Capture Suspects After Wire Query

Warned that three burglary suspects wanted in San Diego were proceeding toward Santa Ana, sheriff's officers notified cities along the coast highway last night and succeeded in having the trio arrested as they passed through San Clemente.

Special Officers Henry Moore and Earl Moore nabbed Mr. and Mrs. James E. O'Brien and Jack Fleming at 10:45 p. m. when their dark green coach approached San Clemente. San Diego officers were notified and took the three back to the southern city. The appeal for aid from San Diego was received here on the state police teletype system.

of Nations and the world disarmament conference had no basis in fact so far as she is concerned.

Hitler's drastic withdrawal from both the League and the conference seemed to have the country unitedly behind him.

AUSTRIA CLOSES ALL UNIVERSITIES TODAY

VIENNA, Oct. 16.—(UP)—The government ordered the closing of every university in Austria today after an outbreak of Nazi student rioting and the explosion of smoke bombs in the nation's leading institutions.

Outbreaks occurred simultaneously at the University of Vienna, at Innsbruck, Graz, and the Loeben mining college. Police believed the demonstrations were carefully planned.

The Swastika flag was hoisted at Vienna while the rioting students hurled smoke bombs and stood off battalions of police. Many arrests and injuries were reported, but the government apparently had the situation well in hand.

ONE PERSON IS KILLED AND 22 OTHERS HURT

Althouse and Conquist, riding in the front seat, were thrown from the car. Conquist and Mrs. Christensen were given first aid at the Laguna Beach hospital and the Laguna county hospital but Mrs. Althouse did not require hospital attention.

Coroner Earl Abbey announced that an inquest probably would be held tomorrow from the Laguna Beach Funeral home. Althouse is survived by his widow and two daughters.

Miss Margaret Overend, 21, 1450 Columbia street, San Diego, is in a critical condition from a fractured collarbone, pelvis and internal injuries at the Orange County hospital as the result of an accident on the Coast highway five miles north of Laguna Beach at 11:30 a. m. Sunday. Mrs. I. A. Holdredge, 43, Mrs. Loretta Randolph, 45 and Miss Wave Randolph, 20, all of San Diego, were seriously injured.

Mrs. Holdredge, driver of the car, said she applied the brakes when a tire blew out. The car skidded, turned over twice and pinned the women underneath. Miss Overend could not be extricated from the wreckage until the car was lifted. Mrs. Randolph suffered a fracture of the spine, bad cuts on the face and body bruises; Mrs. Holdredge received a fractured collarbone and cuts and bruises while Miss Randolph had cuts on the back.

The women were rushed to the Laguna Beach hospital and later removed to the Orange County hospital.

Two automobiles racing on South Main street at a speed estimated at more than 70 miles an hour were responsible for a three-car collision at Eddie Martin's airport at 8:15 p. m. yesterday in which four persons were injured and one driver was arrested for drunk driving and failure to stop and render aid.

Fred Handry, Jr., 24, clerk, 2632 Greenleaf street, was held at the county jail under $5000 bond after his car struck two others while rounding the turn at the end of South Main street. Lawrence Roepke, 27, 311 East Chestnut street, driver of one car was only slightly injured but his three passengers, Miss Delores Gunther, 20, 361 South Glassell street, Orange, Miss Martha Unzelman, 21, 349 South Shaffer street, Orange, and Winston Roby, member of the Silverado C.C.C. camp, were seriously hurt. Miss Gunther, daughter of former Mayor Oscar Gunther, and Roby were unconscious when taken to the Santa Ana Valley hospital.

Chases Speeder

California Highway Patrolman George Peterkin, driving his car on South Main street saw Handry's car travelling at a high rate of speed and started chasing him. Service station attendants at the airport said they heard the Handry machine and another car racing nearly a mile away and ran to the highway to see more clearly. Neither car could make the right turn and careened off the highway.

The Handry machine first struck the Roepke car, swerved into a car driven by Austin Pearson, 335 East Third street, Tustin and stopped after skidding 147 feet down the highway. Eleven witnesses saw Handry jump out of his car, run back to the corner where the two girls and Roby were lying on the pavement and then speeding away in his car without offering aid. The fourth car which was racing with Handry finally made the corner and never stopped.

Peterkin, delayed by the heavy traffic, arrived just as Handry drove away. Learning that the fleeing driver was in the wreck, the officer pursued him at a speed of 70 miles an hour and placed him under arrest after Handry had driven his badly damaged car off a side road at Paulmarino without lights. Examined by a physician, Handry was pronounced drunk and his companion, Miss Ruth Owens, 19, 214 Owens drive, was found to have been drinking. She was not held by officers but admitted and later denied that her escort had come back to the accident. Handry denied getting out of his car and said he must have been dazed.

Peterkin announced this morning that charges of hit and run driving and drunk driving would be filed against Handry in the Tustin justice court.

Orvil J. Yule, 27, El Monte, received severe head injuries when his car and a machine driven by George Moha, Escondido, collided in the highway railroad viaduct at Irvine at 5:30 p. m. Saturday. According to police reports, Yule had been drinking and was on the wrong side of the road. He was taken to the Orange county hospital and was unconscious for several hours.

Leg Fractured

Jack Clayton, 25, 2011 South Pomona street, Brea, suffered a fractured leg when his car left the road on the state highway near La Habra and hit a telephone pole Saturday night. He was taken to the Orange County hospital.

Lawson Gist, 19, 411 South Hickory street, Orange, received severe head injuries and cuts about the left eye when his car left the road and overturned in a ditch near El Modena at 1 a. m. Sunday. He was riding alone at the time of the accident.

Four persons were hurt at 2:30 p. m. yesterday on the coast highway two miles east of Newport Beach when cars driven by Edward E. Jones, 48, Los Angeles and Theo F. Mouché, 42, Wilmington, collided. Both men and their wives, Mrs. Anna Jones, 26 and Mrs. Cassie Mouché, 23, were cut and bruised.

W. F. Bechtold, 356 Mermaid street, Laguna Beach, was slightly hurt when his car hit a telephone pole at 4:25 p. m. one-half mile east of The Archers on the coast highway. Charles W. Horn, 35, San Pedro seaman, caused the wreck when he tried to pass a car, misjudged the speed of Bechtold's approaching car and side-swiped it. Bechtold lost control and his car was wrecked.

Manuel Muro, 221 East La Palma street, riding a scooter at La Palma and Pratt streets in Anaheim, received cuts and bruises when knocked down last night by an automobile driven by Iva Krepps, 626 South Emily street. She told police the lad darted in front of her car. He was taken to the Anaheim Sanitarium and was taken home today.

Charles Manderscheid, 21, Santa Ana, was slightly hurt at 11 p. m. Saturday night when his car crashed into a loaded gasoline truck and trailer at Ninth and Main streets. The truck caught fire but did not explode. Manderscheid was booked at the jail for drunk driving and was released on bond.

H. P. Shaw, 670 Virginia Park Drive, Laguna Beach, had a narrow escape from serious injury when his car overturned on Coast Boulevard, near the north city limit, at 3 a. m. Sunday, after he had run off the road and struck a dirt shoulder. Shaw was rushed to the Laguna Beach police station by Henry Stuart and Bill Magee of San Juan Capistrano but was found to have suffered only slight bruises.

BLOODSHED IN COTTON STRIKE STILL FEARED

FRESNO, Cal., Oct. 16.—(UP)—Strike leaders in the California cotton fields exhorted their faltering followers today not to heed official calls for resumption of cotton picking pending arbitration of their bitter wage dispute.

The calls came from Edward H. Fitzgerald, federal conciliator, Enrique Bravo, Mexican consul, and state and county authorities.

Fitzgerald was confident the mediation plan he offered meant settlement of the strike. He said most of the pickers would go back to the fields and harvesting the crop would be on a normal basis this week.

Defy Mediator

But a "central strike committee," although shorn of most of its leaders by their arrests, defied Fitzgerald and contradicted his assertions of peace. The committee called for more intense picketing in places where workers deserted the strikers' ranks.

County authorities were ready for trouble. They expected clashes between the "die-hards" of the strike movement and the men whom necessity sent back to the fields to obtain food and shelter for their families.

The peace plan offered by Fitzgerald provided for payment of the old scale of 60 cents per hundred-weight until a "fact-finding committee," which started its work in Visalia, could determine a fair wage and make probable adjustments. The spokesmen for the striking pickers demanded $1 a hundredweight.

The central strike committee recommended cancellation of existing cotton contracts, most of them negotiated when the price was at least two cents less per pound than at present. By this means the growers could afford to increase wages, the committee argued.

Growers and mediators ignored this committee, whose leader, Pat Chambers, was held in jail on criminal syndicalism charges. The peace advocates appealed directly to the individual workers.

Their appeals for the end of the strike were distributed through printed leaflets. At Pixley, where two men were killed in rioting, some of the handbills were torn up in defiance of the call.

The strikers reported a threat had been made that state military forces would be used to force them back to work.

"We demand that they be kept out," the labor agitators shouted, although a week ago some of them were reported calling for state aid.

NOTED JOURNALIST OF JAPAN CALLED

VICTORIA, B. C., Oct. 16.—(UP)—Japan's most widely known journalist, Dr. Inazo Nitobe, 71, editor of the Tokyo Nichi Nichi, died here last night following an attack of pneumonia.

Nitobe was stricken immediately following the Pacific Institute of International Relations conference at Banff, where he took a leading part.

General and subcontractors of Orange county will attend a special meeting of the Orange County General Contractors' association tomorrow night at 6:30 o'clock in James' cafe here, to listen to an address to be given by Col. Carlos W. Huntington, director of professional and vocational standards and registrar of contractors for the state of California. A dinner will precede the speaking and business program.

Cars Collide

There were two wrecks in which no one was hurt. Cars driven by Enrique Gonzales, 41, and Frank E. Rooney, 23, Los Angeles, collided on the coast highway in Dana Point at 1 p. m. Saturday.

Lecl F. Boosey, Irvine, was given a ticket for not having lights on his car following a crash at Orange and Bishop streets at 6:35 p. m. yesterday. His car and the machine driven by Rubard Myers, 1212 Orange avenue, collided.

ELKS PLAN 1934 CONVENTION

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—(UP)—Plans for the 1934 Elks convention here were discussed on the recent visit to Kansas City of Walter F. Meier, Seattle, Wash., grand exalted ruler of the lodge, and J. E. Masters, grand secretary, as they stopped en route to Warrensburg, Mo., for the Missouri state convention of Elks.

reopening, the bank would be giving further time to put its affairs into shape to resume business.

In the case of national banks, the determination of its position would be made instead by federal authorities who have elaborate information on banks under its jurisdiction.

Griffith Park Deaths Laid To Negligence

This was emphasized in Henderson's closing speech to the general commission, when he said:

"Germany's withdrawal, just when we were fostering the hope of reaching a rapid decision, cannot facilitate our work. It will only add difficulties of a political nature which it is our duty to overcome."

Henderson was given a burst of applause when he added, "We must pursue our work."

In view of the far-reaching consequences of Germany's withdrawal,

1. Lack of appreciation by authorities of the danger to the entire park and adjacent property in a large portion of the city of Los Angeles.

2. Lack of adequate, trained supervision of the workers to insure their safety in the brush-covered areas.

open meeting today. The dominant figures were Norman Davis, American representative, Sir John Simon, British foreign minister, and Joseph Paul-Boncour, French foreign minister.

Davis Mediator

Davis is credited with attempting to conciliate the widely divergent views in the steering committee, and it was his plea for a continuance of the conference, after a brief adjournment, that prevented a complete wrecking of the parley.

It also was Davis who counseled taking a softer tone towards the Berlin government than some of the European diplomats advised. The note sent to Baron Konstantin von Neurath, German foreign minister, in reply to Berlin's message of renunciation last Saturday, was therefore moderate in tone, although it would not concede that Germany's excuses for quitting the scene were justified.

The note pointed out that the steering committee had, at the moment Hitler was writing his withdrawal message, completed a program which would have answered most of Germany's objections to the proposed compact.

Henderson Speaks

This was emphasized in Henderson's closing speech to the general commission, when he said:

"Germany's withdrawal, just when we were fostering the hope of reaching a rapid decision, cannot facilitate our work. It will only add difficulties of a political nature which it is our duty to overcome."

Henderson was given a burst of applause when he added, "We must pursue our work."

END "poor coffee" worries for ALL time!

At the Cooking School this week watch the simple, quick method of making a more wholesome, delicious and unvarying beverage from Ben-Hur DRIP—America's original and most highly specialized coffee. Make this coffee in your home just as flavor and inviting!

Open your mind to NEW coffee satisfaction—and COFFEE ECONOMY! Realize that it is the rare, costlier coffees entering into the Ben-Hur blend that assure many more full-flavored, full-bodied cups to every pound—making it more economical than cheaper coffees.

THERE IS NO ECONOMY IN CHEAP COFFEES! They give about 35 poor flavored, weak-bodied cups per pound. High character coffees entering into the Ben-Hur blend will give 60 or more richer, deliciously flavored and more satisfying cups of coffee per pound!

THEVES ROB TWO SANTA ANA HOMES

Two Santa Ana homes were entered and robbed Saturday with watches, jewelry, currency and playing cards being taken by the thieves.

F. L. King, 802 South Broadway, reported to police that a front screen was cut to gain entrance to his home. Loot taken included a woman's Swiss gold wrist-watch, girl's Swiss silver watch and a cameo brooch.

Four dollars in currency and a deck of playing cards were the only things found missing from the home of M. U. Martin, 115 East Chestnut street. A screen on the bathroom window was cut while the family was away from home Saturday.

Dishes to be demonstrated include pineapple-pumpkin salad, hot rolls, chocolate ice cream, orange wafers and zuchini farci.

TEAM WORKERS IN FIELD: ASK COOPERATION

The 1933 Community Chest appeal moves into intensive action today with $14,300 reported this morning at Chest headquarters. This equals 43 per cent of the goal for the year, which is $33,500.

The total to date represents partial reports from the Advance Gifts department, from the schools and from three employees divisions. Solicitation in residences and business sections begins today.

Chest headquarters announced. Cooperation of the public in the campaign was asked by Chest leaders.

"Buck passers" are those who deny assistance to local appeals and expect the federal government to carry forward all relief and community welfare work. President Roosevelt supplied the label and identified the group in a speech over a nation-wide radio hook-up last night, which launched a four weeks appeal throughout the nation in the annual Community Chest movement.

"The president's remarks were frank and to the point," said Mrs. F. E. Coulter, member of the advisory committee of the Santa Ana Community Chest campaign.

"They could scarcely be more timely for Santa Ana," Mrs. Coulter added, "as our intensive Chest appeal begins today to reach a goal of $33,500. We have already gone through two weeks of advance solicitation with daily totals mounting. We are going to pass the goal this year if people will respond in the manner suggested by President Roosevelt."

The meeting of the Allied Veterans Council, in Legion hall at Orange tonight is expected by members to be the most important meeting held by this organization since it was launched a year ago in Santa Ana. Notices have been mailed to all delegates and the newly installed commanders of all American Legion posts in the county, urging a full attendance as plans for its future activities will be taken up for determination.

"With the newly elected Commander-in-Chief Edward A. Hayes of the American Legion, and the Department Commander Homer Challaux having declared themselves as heartily endorsing a unified program for all veteran groups, the Allied Council in this county takes on new significance," Charles Hyatt, secretary, said today.

"Already the National Legislative and Rehabilitation committees, in Washington, of all veteran bodies are at work on definite plans for co-ordination of effort and policy for the contest before them when congress meets in regular session in January. It is known that it is the purpose of the National Economic League to insist upon a further curtailment of benefits to veterans than now provided in the Economy Act."

"This, according to the public declarations of the national officers of all veteran groups, will be vigorously opposed and that they will unite in insisting that to the federal government belongs the responsibility for providing for its former soldiers who through disability must be taken care of, and which responsibility the national government is now determined to saddle upon the states and communities with a resultant heavy increase in the burdens of the local taxpayers."

During the illness of the chairman, Jules Markel, Van L. Brown, who was elected vice chairman, will preside.

Police News

Ernest Ramos, 21 Atwood, has been arrested in Hanford and brought to the county jail on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. He is accused of striking a girl in Atwood on the face with a gun. Deputy Sheriff Earl Nickles made the arrest.

Bicycles were stolen from Jack Forcey, 213 South Sycamore street, and Fred Ball, 931 Spurgeon street, from near Third and Main streets Saturday afternoon, it was reported to police.

Jack Nance, R. D. 3, Box 413, reported to police yesterday that his car was stolen from Third and Ross streets Saturday.

Nearly four sacks of walnuts were stolen Saturday morning from the ranch of Fred Miller, 625 East Seventeenth street, by two men driving a shabby sedan, he reported to police.

J. B. Kilegel, 322 East Chestnut street, told officers yesterday that a valuable gold watch, watch-chain and knife were stolen from him or lost while he was dining at the Jewel cafe in Seal Beach last night.

LIQUOR COUNTS BRING 12 TO COUNTY JAIL

Twelve men among the 23 persons booked at the county jail last week end were charged with liquor violations, including three for drunk driving, one for hit and run driving while intoxicated, seven for drunkenness and one for possession.

Charles C. Manderscheid, 21, R. D. 5, Box 23, caused one of the most spectacular wrecks in many months when he drove his car into a loaded gasoline truck and trailer at Ninth and Main streets at 11 p. m. Saturday. The gasoline caught fire and was extinguished by the fire department.

Manderscheid was booked at the jail for drunk driving after officers took two bottles of whiskey from his car and he was pronounced drunk by a physician. He said he had been drinking beer before the accident.

Jose Hernandez, 39, El Modena and Jose Angel Cortez, 40, El Modena, were arrested yesterday at 7:25 p. m. by Officers Harry Pritchard and J. W. Foster. Hernandez drove his car into the parked car of Mrs. Elsie Raymond, Alhambra, and was booked for drunk driving.

While Cortez, who was riding with him, was charged with drunkenness.

O. P. Smith, 29, Santa Ana, was arrested at 1:15 a. m. yesterday for drunk driving at Fourth and French streets and taken to the jail by Officers F. L. Grouard and F. A. Hantsbarger. He obtained his release by posting a $200 bail bond.

Add Hit and Run Charge
Fred Handy Jr., 24, clerk, 2032 Greenleaf street, was arrested by California Highway Patrolman George Peterkin at 10 p. m. yesterday for hit and run driving while intoxicated. He was involved in a wreck near the Eddie Martin Airport on South Main street in which two Orange girls and a member of the Silverado C. C. camp were injured.

G. Hernandez, 50, Placentia, was booked for possession of liquor at 7 p. m. yesterday by Officer Horace Lucy of Placentia.

J. E. Jones, 33, Orange, posted $25 bond and will be arraigned October 23 at 2 p. m. after being arrested for drunkenness at 4:10 p. m. yesterday at Fourth and French streets by Officer Roy Hartley.

Benjamin Montoya, 44, Orange, was brought to the jail at 7:45 a. m. yesterday by Officer Homer Davis and James Johnson of Orange for intoxication. He posted a $25 bond and promised to appear for his arraignment on October 18 at 4 p. m.

Dave Lilly, 28, Irvine, reported to be drunk in his car at Second and Garfield streets, was arrested and taken to the jail at 4:50 a. m. yesterday by Santa Ana police for intoxication. He posted a $25 bond and will appear in police court tomorrow at 10 a. m.

Florentina Murietta, 27, Santa Ana, was arrested for drunkenness at Fourth and Mortimer streets and taken to the jail at 1:05 a. m. yesterday.

Two Mexicans were arrested Saturday night for drunkenness at Fifth and Broadway during a Mexican dance. Pete Hernandez, 29, 21, Modena was booked at 10:30 p. m. and Bruno Castenedo, 24, Irvine, at 11:50 p. m. The arrests were made by Officer W. A. Swain.

WILL ROGERS says:

SANTA MONICA, Oct. 16.—(To the Editor of The Register.) So Germany left the League. Well, we can't criticize. We never even went in. The poor old League never had a chance. For it had no power. It tried to keep every body good by having 'em sign a pledge (but there was nothing they could do to you if you broke the pledge.) They didn't need guns to make the League a real success. An economic boycott against any nation by all the others would have done the trick. Let the world quit trading with Japan and China will have Manchuria back by breakfast time. Nations will give up their lives (even cheer about it.) They will give up their money in order to give up their trade to prevent a war, well, that has never been done.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

FARM WORKERS ASKING HIGHER WAGE SCALE

Charges that Japanese truck farmers are paying Mexican laborers but 15 cents an hour for working in the field will be aired at a hearing scheduled to be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the Garden Grove Japanese church. Most of the growers, it is claimed, are paying 25 cents an hour for labor but it is charged that some of them are paying Mexicans as low as 15 cents for agricultural labor. The Mexican laborers are seeking a minimum rate of 25 cents an hour.

Representatives of the Mexican Labor Federation, including Juan P. Oiler, Glorieta, secretary of the Orange county group, will be present at the hearing.

Thomas Baker, Los Angeles, of the state labor commissioner's department, also will attend the hearing. It was announced.

Local Briefs

Contracting lathers and plasterers will hold a business meeting at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the Orange County Builders' Exchange building. It was announced today by Frederic W. Sanford, secretary of the Exchange. Routine business matters will be discussed.

Clarence Compton, Austin Joy and John Henderson returned yesterday from Occidental college where they attended the fifth annual Southern California Y. M. C. A. conference. Joy of the local college Y. M. C. A. was program chairman for the convention.

LIQUOR SALE TO YOUNG PEOPLE DRAWS ATTACK

Declaring that the young people of Santa Ana are being corrupted by the open sale of alcoholic beverages, and asserting that the voters of America are not coming to the polls to vote on the question of repeal of the Eighteenth amendment, the Rev. Walter S. Buchanan, pastor of the First Christian church, called on the Christians of the city to use their influence to counteract evil in his talk before the Men's Community Bible class of his church yesterday.

"There is a place in the center of this city that is drawing the young people of the community, grinding down their souls to fill its coffers," he declared. "I understand that this place was open until 2 o'clock Sunday morning, with young men and young women there drinking, carousing, dancing and arousing lust. They are getting liquor there that will send their souls to hell."

"The people will be aroused by these things and a change for the better is bound to result. The Eighteenth amendment is being repealed by the vote of only one-fourth of the voters of the nation. The other three-fourths are staying at home keeping their mouths shut. In Florida alone, where there are 500,000 registered voters, only 100,000 voted on the question of repeal."

"In about two years these folks who are not voting now will be heard from. After liquor comes back they will be sorry they kept quiet."

SPECTACULAR FIRE FOLLOWS AUTO ACCIDENT

Flaming gasoline and the constant threat of a terrific explosion thrilled hundreds of spectators at 11 p. m. Saturday following a spectacular wreck at Ninth and Main streets between a car and a loaded gasoline truck and trailer.

The automobile, driven by Charles C. Manderscheid, 21, R. D. 5, Box 23, came west on Ninth street and crashed into the truck and trailer, traveling south on Main street. Two fuses on the trailer were broken and the large tank punctured from the impact. The gasoline caught fire, from sparks and the trailer and pavement were enveloped in flames. Firemen and police managed to extinguish the fire before there was an explosion and a close guard was maintained around the truck until the leaking gasoline could be stopped. The streets around the wreck were flooded with water to prevent further fire.

and bystanders were kept far away from the truck which was carrying 3400 gallons of gasoline.

Manderscheid, pronounced drunk by a physician, was booked at the county jail for drunk driving. He was slightly cut and bruised from the wreck. Officers said that two bottles of whiskey were taken from his car but the driver said he had been drinking beer prior to the accident. Raymond Argo, Los Angeles, was driving the truck from Los Angeles to San Diego.

Manderscheid obtained his release from jail by posting a $300 bond. He will be arraigned October 18 at 2 p. m.

UNIDENTIFIED BODY WASHED IN BY SEA

Washed ashore near the west city limits of Huntington Beach late Saturday afternoon, the decomposed body of a man was found by bathers. The police department and Coroner Earl Abbey were called to make an investigation of the gruesome discovery. Abbey announced today that no inquest was held and he ordered the body buried under the direction of the Dixon Mortuary in Huntington Beach. Deputy Sheriff Herman Zabel took fingerprints to compare with existing records but no identification could be made. No missing men are listed as disappearing from the coast or near-by cities and it is thought that the body might be that of someone drowned during the summer season at the beaches.

The body is thought to have been in the water for several months and a hand and a foot were missing. The teeth were mostly gone and the clothing was in shreds.

CANYON OIL COMPANY

A CALIFORNIA CORPORATION

Par Value: $1.00 a Share

The purpose of this issue is to finance continued drilling of a prospect well on a lease covering approximately 275 acres in the vicinity of Trabuco Canyon, held by the company. According to the report of W. C. Marshall, a geologist of wide experience, outcroppings on the lease display formations which have proved productive of oil and gas in other sections of Orange and Los Angeles counties. Furthermore, according to his report, the anticlinal structure traversing the lease indicates a complete closure.

Common Stock of Canyon Oil Company carries full voting rights and is non-assessable.

SIN IS CAUSE OF EVERY FEAR. PASTOR AVERS

Evangelist R. R. Spear, of the Seventh Day Adventist church, declared last night that "sin had caused every fear in man. The fear of exposure, or capture, or penalty. Also the shame, remorse and guilt of sin had driven millions to crime and suicide seeking to cover up their unholy lives. The remedy is not in self," Mr. Spear said, "nor in suicide or death. Can man hide and cover up such a life that neither God nor conscience will discover it?" Asked the speaker, The sermon in part follows:

"The inception of guilt and shame came with the entrance of sin into the human race. Notice that when the first sin was committed Adam and Eve hastened to hide from God. (Gen. 3:8) Centuries later the Lord announced, 'Be sure your sin will find you out.' And God walked right up to Adam and Eve in their hiding place.

"Achan was sure no one knew that he had transgressed in taking one piece of gold, one piece of silver and a single garment during the fall of Jericho, although God had forbidden any personal appropriations of the spoil. Secretly he buried them in the floor of his tent.

"Israel now discovered that God had forsaken them. When the proclamation was made that tribe by tribe, family by family, and then man by man would be taken to find the troubled, Achan could have confessed and been spared, but he hoped his hiding was sufficient. By this process he was discovered. Then he confessed, but it was too late. Therefore Achan was destroyed by fire; a type of everyone that tries to hide even one sin from God.

"King David asked, 'where may we flee from God's presence?' Into heaven or hell? Or cover ourselves with darkness? Or go to the uttermost part of the earth? Even there shall God's hand lead me," acknowledged the king.

"Through Amos the Lord states though the wicked hide in the bottom of the sea yet will I set mine eyes upon them for evil.

"Our hope lies in the advice of Solomon and the offer of Christ. The wise man says, 'He that covereth his sins shall not prosper; but whoso confesseth and forsaketh them shall have mercy.' With that done Jesus says, 'Son, be of good cheer; thy sins be forgiven thee'."

The musical service was arranged and directed by C. W. E. Bond assistant pastor, who recently arrived from Ogden, Utah. The subject Wednesday night will be "Eternity."

Editor Register,

Dear Sir:

The defeat of Germany in the World war and the consequent humiliation and despair disrupted the very fiber of German self-respect and courage. National pride and prosperity was swept away by an avalanche of despair. Docility and slavery faced the individual. Generations could not repair the national defeat, nor lift the individual from a slavery of reparation debt and burdens inconceivable of limitation. Unscrupulous government and financial leaders took advantage of these adverse national conditions. Money and more money was needed, not thousands and millions, but milliards and billions. These were printed without any basic value whatever and as soon as secured they must be used for the necessities of life or else lose their value. The only recourse was a return to the standard Reichsmark, and consequently the last resource of national prosperity was gone. The mobile capital of the country was almost entirely annihilated. This tragic event known as the inflation of 1922-23 threw millions of well-to-do German citizens into hopeless poverty, but capitalists, most of whom were Jewish, reaped a plentiful harvest.

In spite of all this the heavy yearly reparation payments must be met, which entailed tremendous internal taxes and consequently great economic damages followed in its wake. May it be said here to the credit of President Hoover and his co-workers that they saved Germany from complete bankruptcy and probably communism during the summer of 1931 when they were instrumental in reducing the tremendous war reparations. Yet, even then party strife, political corruption and communism did not cease. Strife and bloodshed was on every hand. There were at least some thirty parties, none agreeing with the other.

There lay Germany stagnating in unemployment, disrupted by party strife, rotten to the core with communism and political corruption. This was a desperate state and demanded drastic measures. These Hitler brought about with the good will and the heart of the nation with him. His regime of dictatorship has saved Germany from chaos and communism and has restored peace and order.

CHRIST'S GIFT TO PEOPLE IS SUNDAY TOPIC

Evangelist J. W. Bates yesterday discussed the subjects "Priceless Gifts of Penniless People" and "Greater Work Than Christ's" at the Church of Christ, Broadway and Walnut streets. He said in part:

"Christ, during the period of his public ministry, performed works which startled the people and caused the multitude to throng to him. All his miracles pertained to the flesh and timely things. A man was born blind, destined never to see the faces of loved ones, or glimpse the star-gemmed skies. Jesus corrected this defect.

"A careful survey of the life of Christ shows that the purpose of these signs and wonders was to convince those who saw Him that Jesus was what he claimed to be—the Son of God. The very works that I do bear witness of me, that the Father hath sent me" (Jno. 5:36). The secondary purpose of the miracles was to confirm the words spoken by the apostles as the truth, the word of God.

"At the Last Supper, Jesus said to his apostles, 'He that believeth on me, the works that I do, he shall do also; and greater works than these shall he do; because I go unto the Father' (Jno. 14:12). 'After His crucifixion and Resurrection, He commissioned His followers to propagate the Gospel. This is the greater work. Miracles have ceased—there being no necessity to confirm the Bible, or convict people otherwise of belief, but as the spirit is greater than the body, as eternity transcends time, so the preaching of the Gospel remains the greater work'."

LUKE WARMNESS IN RELIGION. SUNDAY TOPIC

Speaking yesterday at the Church of Christ, Fairview and Birch streets, Evangelist Elbridge B. Linn chose as his topic "Luke-warmness in Religion."

He said in part: "Of all of the emotions ascribed to our Lord in the word of God, the one introduced by the apostle John in the last book of the Bible is the most startling and arresting of our attention. There are times when Christ is portrayed as being grieved. Again He is represented, as being angry. But here his feeling is that of utter disgust almost to the point of nausea. 'So then because thou art lukewarm, and neither cold nor hot, I will spew thee out of my mouth.' (Rev. 3:16).

"Those with whom Christ was displeased were not alien sinners. So far as the word of God reveals, He never showed utter disgust for sinners. Christ hated the sin, but loved the sinner even to the point of dying for him. The object of his contempt is a church. It is a group of people professing religion calling themselves Christians, but who have become listless and indifferent, and have lost the zeal and fire that should ever characterize Christians. Christ's condemning words are: 'Thou art lukewarm.'"

"Lukewarmness, the offspring of self-satisfaction and negligence, is a barrier in the way of progress and development because it robs its victim of earnestness and aspiration. Christ, knowing this, says: 'I would that thou were cold or hot.' If one is not going to be out and out for Christ, then he might as well not take a stand for Him. The master says: 'He that is not with me is against me.'"

"Thank God, there is a cure for lukewarmness and half-heartedness. Hear the Saviour: 'Be zealous, therefore, and repent. Behold, I stand at the door and knock: if any man hear my voice and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me.' (Rev. 3:19)

COMMUNITY CHEST PLEA IS MADE BY REVEREND SCHROCK AT CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

"We are either building towers toward heaven or shooting arrows to drive heaven away," said Perry Frederick Schrock in his sermon at The First Congregational church yesterday morning. He began his sermon by telling of two ancient legends; one of them found in the Old Testament and the other one coming from the Indians of Alaska.

Mr. Schrock said in part: "We are all familiar with the Old Testament legend, we call it 'The Story of the Tower of Babel.' It is a story of a people who wanted to make a name for themselves by building a city, and a tower that would reach up to heaven. In other words, they wanted to come into contact with heaven and they made that attempt by building this high tower.

Indian Legend
"In the legend from the Indians just the opposite was attempted. The Indians say that long, long ago, heaven was nearer earth than now and that the nearness of heaven was a cause for unhappiness. They were afraid that they would disturb the 'Great Chief,' therefore, they talked in whispers.

"One night a son of the chief of the tribe stayed out in the woods all night and he spent the night looking up into heaven. Then, he had an idea. The next day he began to make arrows and he kept on making them until he had over a thousand. Then he began shooting them into heaven, each arrow hitting the one shot before and driving it farther. In that way heaven was pushed farther away at each shot.

"Finally, it got so far away he could not reach it with an arrow. Then all the people carried rocks to a small island high above the sea. They piled the rocks upon the highest peak on the island. Then the young Indian stood upon this high point and shot more arrows into heaven un-agencies are ministering to those who are in need or in trouble and we have occasion to be proud of the fine service that we have rendered in this city. Good as this is, it is not enough. There must be carried on constructive character building activities.

"A famous English preacher once said that he used to spend his time on the Jericho road caring for the victims of the robbers. But now he is staying up at Jerusalem pounding the police department to make the road safe for travelers. And so with us it is a splendid thing to take care of the victims of life, but it is better to produce men and women who will not become life's victims. And so our Community Chest supports the agencies that are caring for the boys and girls of our city.

Build Better Boys

"It has been said that most of the boys in the recent gang that has been apprehended, came from homes that in one way or another were unfavorable. For the sake of boys and girls we must seek to give to these young people that which is probably lacking in their home life. But there is a need also among the young people from good normal homes—their recreation time needs to be guided and wholesomely filled. It means much in the development of these young people. Our Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. and our Boy Scouts are attempting to meet this great need.

"Twelve boys in Whittier will cost tax payers $10,900. That happens to be just the amount that the Y. M. C. A. asks from the Community Chest. The Y. M. C. A. will minister to probably 800 boys and almost an equal number of men, for the cost of keeping 12 boys in Whittier state school. Which is better business? This week, are you going to help build a tower to bring heaven nearer, or are you going to shoot arrows to drive it farther away?"

Bakersfield, California, is the site of the deepest oil well ever drilled in this country; it is 10,440 feet deep.

INCARNATION SERMON TOPIC FOR MINISTER

In his sermon Sunday evening at Calvary church, Rev. Frank E. Lindgren, the pastor, preaching from the text, 'Ye must be born again,' called attention to the rendering from the revised version which reads: 'Ye must be born from above' and gave reasons why the new birth was necessary.

"This natural realm in which we live," he said, "has its various phases of existence. The inorganic consists of elements which have no seed to bring forth after their kind. Sand can be sown but it will not bring forth a new crop of sand. The laws operative in that realm have from creation set the bounds and they remain so to this day.

"Above that is the organic realm consisting of various species with power of propagation, each bringing forth 'after its kind.' Then come the animal and human realms with numerous variations possible within each realm but all subject to laws operative within each. Between each plane there is a great gulf fixed so there is no passing from one to another.

"All the missing links are still missing and forever will be. A wild hog's tooth from Nebraska and a queer lizard from Alaska may spur up hopes for a time only to drop the hopeful ones down to the bottom of the ladder again. There is nothing inherent in inorganic matter to become organic, nor in the organic to become animal or animal to become human. 'A cow may eat grass and the grass will become a part of the bodily elements of the cow but the necessary things to make a cow were all there before it touched a blade of grass. It makes more weight but not more cow.

"Above all these realms there is another realm, the spiritual, the habitation of God who created all things that constitute the lower planes. It is impossible for any of the next lower plane, the human, to enter the spiritual realm through any inherent forces the human possesses or by any works or efforts of its own. For man to have any hope of entering the habitation of God such hope must be based entirely upon the supernatural thing God did to make this possible. The gap could not be bridged from man to God but it was bridged from God to man that man might get to God.

"Here is where the incarnation became necessary. The Son, one with the Father before the world ever was, came down from that realm and took on human form. After Christ returned to heaven the Holy Spirit came and now God is in touch with man and man can get in touch with God. The spiritual realm descended to the human. Being 'born from above' is the work of the Holy Spirit in the heart of man that makes him a creature of the heavenly realm.

"If it were possible for a human spirit to take possession of a creature in the animal kingdom that animal would become a human being. It would be born from above. But that can never be so the distance will never be traveled. 'Within each plane there are many varieties possible but never beyond the set limits within that plane. The highest vegetable cannot become the lowest animal. The highest in the human realm is as far from God as the lowest.

You pay your honest debts, you are kindly disposed, you treat your family well, you say you live up to the golden rule—well, what of it? That places you at the very top in human society and is very commendable but you are as far from God at the top of the ladder as from the bottom. The real distance is between the two realms and not from one point in one and one point in another. The highest human attainment possible cannot lift you out of the human realm, 'ye must be born from above'."

Christian Science

Paul's words, "All things are of God, who hath reconciled us to himself by Jesus Christ, and hath given to us the ministry of reconciliation," were the Golden Text in the lesson-sermon on "Doctrine of Atonement" yesterday at the Santa Ana First Church of Christ, Scientist.

One of the scriptural selections in the lesson-sermon included the verses from Mark: "And when he was gone forth into the way, there came one running, and kneeled to him, and asked him, Good Master, what shall I do that I may inherit eternal life?... Then Jesus beholding him loved him, and said unto him, One thing thou lackest; go thy way, sell whatsoever thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven; and come, take up the cross, and follow me. And he was sad at that saying, and went away grieved; for he had great possessions."

Among the correlative passages from "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, were the words: "Wisdom and love may require many sacrifices of self to save us from sin. One sacrifice, however great is sufficient to pay the debt of sin. The atonement requires constant self-immolation on the sinner's part."

MANCHURIA TO BE TOPIC FOR ROMAN FORUM

Dr. Frederick W. Roman's subject at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow at the People's Forum meeting, Third Avenue, will be, "An Interview with the Earl of Lytton." This lecture will review the Japanese-Chinese-Manchurian question from the standpoint of the League of Nations commission which investigated the controversy.

The Earl of Lytton was appointed chairman of the League of Nations commission to investigate the Japanese and Chinese situation in their recent dispute in Manchuria. The five members of this commission travelled extensively in Japan, China, and Manchuria where they talked to leaders in these countries and also with many Russians who were conversant with the situation.

According to Dr. Roman, "This interview with the Earl of Lytton provided a remarkable insight into the Japanese-Chinese dispute from the viewpoint of an internationalist who has worked long and earnestly for better understanding between the races and nations."

The committee of the People's Forum has announced that a current events discussion will be conducted by Dr. Roman preceding the lecture. This discussion will begin promptly at 7:30 o'clock. The public is invited.

TEN BROUGHT TO JAIL ON SIX CHARGES

Nine men and one woman were booked at the county jail over the week end for various offenses, excluding liquor violations, including three each for investigation of grand theft and one each for reckless driving, assault, escape from a state school and immigration.

Pete Toquinta, 19, Whitlitt, was booked Saturday noon from Anaheim to serve a 12½ day sentence for reckless driving.

Morris Wahrhalt, 25, Lawrence A. Cahill, 33 and Clifford Y. Box, 17, were booked early Saturday afternoon for investigation of robbery in connection with the holding up of Ray Mossberg of Santa Ana on the coast highway Thursday. The trio confessed to stealing a car in Glendale, robbing a store in Long Beach, robbing two men in a car in San Diego and taking a watch and money from Mossberg. They were arrested in Compton.

Chief John Stanton of Tustin booked Jose Duenez, 18, El Modena, on an assault charge Saturday afternoon.

Raymond Aguirre, 19 and Santiago Martinez, 45, both of Stanton, were booked Saturday afternoon for investigation of grand theft by Deputy Sheriffs Al Nickles, Steve Duhart and Sam Snodgrass.

Deputies Duhart and Fred Swazy booked Jack Rivers, 24, San Bernardino, on the same charge at 2:07 a. m. yesterday.

Mrs. Marie Aviles, 33, Phoenix, was brought to the jail at 9:45 a. m. yesterday for violation of immigration by federal officers.

Raymond Otero, 18, Tustin, charged with escaping from the Whitlitt State School for Boys, was brought to the jail at 5:20 p. m. yesterday by Chief Stanton of Tustin.

'Screen Burglar' In Second Visit

Orange's "screen burglar" paid his second visit over the week end when he ransacked the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Koth at 193 North Batavia street, who have been out of town for several days. The burglary was discovered by their daughter, Mrs. Karl Glasbrenner, of 172 North Pine, Orange.

Officer James Johnson, who investigated, reported that the entire house had been ransacked, with clothing and contents of drawers scattered throughout the house. Entrance was made through a kitchen window, the screen of which was torn off. The same method of gaining entrance was used when the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fay White at 386 North Shafter street was entered. Here also the entire house was ransacked.

Court Notes

Joseph Stevens, 30, Chicago, has been sentenced to serve six months in the county jail for petty theft by Judge Kenneth Morrison. He was arraigned later on a charge of committing a statutory offense and had his preliminary hearing set for October 19 at 9 a. m. Bail was fixed at $3000.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

-- News Behind The News --

WASHINGTON
By George Durno

NO. 1
The next 30 days or so probably will find Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper emerging as the No. 1 man of President Roosevelt's recovery drive.

If he doesn't take over the reins alone there is at least every indication you will see him up on the driver's seat helping to crack the whip.

Insiders say the president leans more and more on the judgment and ability of the commerce secretary.

RECKONING
There is general agreement in administration circles that the time has come when the war-and-wool men of recovery must shake hands if a durable fabric is to come from the loom.

Congress delegated broader powers to the president at last spring's extraordinary session than they had time to measure. Seen from back home the total was gigantic. Misgivings you never heard about were balanced against popular approval.

Now the legislators will be trekking back here a month and a half hence to demand an accounting.

By and large the report will be good. No one can question the fact conditions are far better today than a year ago. Men have gotten back to work. Others are getting better wages. Those black lines on the industrial charts are higher.

There still remains a lack of co-ordination in the drive forward. Every shock trooper is sure the other fellow is the "Jim" with whom everybody else was out of step.

CO-ORDINATOR
This is where Roper would come in. Years of padding around in the squirrel cage of politics have taught him an easy way to get things done.

He is an diplomatist of high order when it comes to bringing two or more factions together. And if he comes in as expected to fit the pieces together it will mean President Roosevelt has learned a little to the right.

The commerce secretary may safely be rated as one of the true conservatives in the official family.

That Mr. Roosevelt also should be turning somewhat more conservative than he was on March 4 is not surprising. It is easy for a man to stand outside of a ball park and say what he'd do if he were at bat. When he gets up to the plate a lot of mysterious curves start shooting past his head and then it's up to him.

After a man gets in the White House he suddenly becomes aware of ominous fingers stretching out from corners he never suspected existed.

Some of them shake too vigorously to be disregarded.

VELVET
President Roosevelt wrestled highly radical powers from congress. He has used them conservatively.

Inflationists are still screaming bloody murder because he hasn't turned on the printing presses and rolled off a billion dollars' worth of unbacked bills.

Out in the farm belt Milo Reno, of the Farmers' Union, is preaching revolution.

Reno says in speech after speech that if F. D. R. doesn't come through on all his campaign promises he'll be the last president of the United States.

Strikes inspired by differences over employer-labor interpretations of NRA codes are in progress all over the country. More are in the offing.

It's going to take a co-ordinator with a touch of velvet to bring everything together on a semblance of common ground.

BUYING
The boys in the NRA publicity organization are all agog because they have some swell news and can't let go of it.

Letters are coming in from all sections giving rosy reports of the "Buy Now" campaign. Those who have seen them say the names of the firms and business houses signing them read like Who's Who of American industrial endeavor. Their reports give concrete sales figures today as compared with those of six months and a year ago. They must remain business secrets. But without revealing any statistics the blue eagle guardians will tell you the campaign beginning September 20 to get buyers to loosen up is bearing definite fruit where strong local advertising is done.

Another reflection is an upswing in national advertising, they say.

KIDNAPERS
Judicious use of the telephone plug-in has proved of inestimable help to department of justice agents in their war on kidnapers. They haven't resorted to wire-tapping because in each instance they got permission from the families of victims to listen in.

As you will recall the bureau of investigation urged that it be notified immediately a person was kidnapped. Complete secrecy of operation was promised to prevent harm befalling the unfortunate in the hands of the hoodlums.

One of the first things the DJ men did upon entering the case was to ask they be allowed to listen in on all telephone calls coming into the house and office of the victim. Special boards were set up at the telephone exchange for the sole purpose of tapping these calls.

In several cases run down thus

NOTES

Arrival of a visiting foreign dignitary in Washington spreads no joy among the White House secretariat....To them it simply means one must don a frock coat, jam on a high hat and go down to the station to meet the train....Louis, Mac and Steve have been known to match to see who loses for the honors....President Roosevelt is going to get all snarled up in his recovery program initials if he isn't careful....The other day in referring to the new agency to handle purchase of hogs and cotton he called it the "Commodity Credit Corporation"....That would make two C.C.'s....General Hugh Johnson sounds a lot like Al Smith on the radio....He puts the same biting clip into his punch-lines.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

TEST
New York conservatives claim that the good faith of the public works administration will soon be put to the test and they will have plenty to say if the test isn't met according to their ideas.

The Passamaquoddy Power Development (in Maine) has applied for $40,000,000. Its sponsors claim it will put more men to work than any other project that has been offered to the P.W.A. Also that there can be no possible reason for turning it down if the real object is reemployment. But they imply—and almost hope—that political obstacles may intervene.

The proposition has been offered to the government in two alternative forms—either as a private enterprise to be financed as a self-liquidating loan or as a direct federal ownership project.

In the latter case the sponsors ask only to be repaid the six or seven hundred thousand dollars they have spent in making plans and surveys. As a federal power development it would rank second only to the Tennessee valley.

The chief engineer in charge of the plans has been Dexter Cooper, younger brother of Colonel Hugh Cooper of Dneperskoy fame. Both Cooper brothers have spent money in preparing the project, have several industrial corporations. Private financing has been impossible since the plans reached a practical stage.

FRANCE
Informed Wall Street is watching French internal developments closely. It looks to leading New York banks as if it won't be long now before the French gold standard goes overboard.

Several South American countries think so anyway. For the first time in years they have sold francs and bought dollars and transferred their balances here for safe keeping. The deposits they are building up are well in excess of trade requirements.

Keen observers see this as the first ripple in a wave of foreign capital that will pour into the United States if our monetary position improves and France's gets worse. They are not at all sure

POLITICS

The political angle that New York expects to complicate the picture is this. The development would spread work and cheap power through Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont and part of Massachusetts, including Boston. But the three northern states are normally Republican and in any case politically unimportant, while Massachusetts is Smith-Democrat and not Roosevelt-Democrat. Therefore they believe Passamaquoddy is likely to be side-tracked in favor of projects with more fertile political possibilities.

They overlook another aspect that might enter into a turn-down. Northern New England is less in need of unemployment relief than almost any other section of the United States. Of course men could be imported for the jobs from needier parts.

UTILITIES

You might ask why conservative interests don't seem to be bothered about stepping on private utility toes in the section to be served by the Maine development. The answer might be that utility holding companies are not deeply involved. Most of the New England operating companies are independent and their problems would cause no particular grief in important financial quarters.

The utility set-up in Massachusetts is unusually clean. This is due to the Massachusetts public service commission which is one of the oldest and strongest in the country and has never allowed holding companies to get a stranglehold. This commission helped prick the 1929 bubble by realistically refusing to allow the issue of certain utility securities in October of that year. Investors who might have bought have cause to be grateful.

BARBER CITY
BARBER CITY, Oct. 15.—Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Farrar recently included his brother, H. A. Farrar, and wife and son, of Atascadero, and a nephew, Elden Farrar, and wife, who are resting from an evangelistic tour and are making their headquarters with Mrs. Elden Farrar's relatives in Santa Ana.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barron will be interested to learn that they have named their daughter, whose birth occurred October 1, Verna May Barron.

Mr. and Mrs. Matt Cochran are now located at their new place of business at Buena Park, moving from Barber City to take charge of the service station and store which they leased recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Trantham and family, who have been residing in Westminster for a short time, have located in Barber City.

that the flood will be an un-mixed blessing.

New York analysts say that France is in trouble because she is willing neither to inflate nor to balance her budget. Any French politician who suggests either figuratively has his head cut off. But if they don't do the second they'll be blooming well have to do the first.

New York financial experts point out that Germany is following the same tactics in regard to the depreciated dollar that she adopted when the pound sterling left gold. The German government is busily speeding up repayment of dollar short-term credits which were frozen up during the crisis. Eventually Germany will be almost free of foreign commitments and will be able to get her share of world trade by successful competition.

The German automobile industry was admittedly one of the chief beneficiaries of Chancellor Hitler's "battle against unemployment." Latest figures show a sharp rise of the number of workers in this industry. It is therefore strange that Opel—the largest German automobile firm—in the midst of this boomlet curtailed its production schedule first to four and now to three days per week.

The explanation is that additional production in the German automobile industry means airplane motors and not automobiles. Opel is owned by General Motors—and a foreign concern can't be entrusted with Reichswehr orders.

IMAGINATION HELD PEOPLE'S GREATEST NEED

"Some of the most terrible deeds have been done and some of the most reprehensible situations are allowed to exist today because we lack imagination. Conversely some of the most beautiful and beneficial acts have been engaged in because men have developed this heaven-sent ability," said Harry Evan Owings at the First Baptist church yesterday morning.

"Lift up your eyes and look," said Jesus to his disciples as he saw the importance of imagination in any work of promoting ideals, and when the prophet Joel gave his pictorial representation of a "period of religious revival" imagination was one of the significant elements. "Your young men shall see visions and your old men shall dream dreams." Imagination is the ability to see and to draw pictures upon the canvas of our minds.

Lack Imagination
"The missionary cause lags today not so much for lack of money as for lack of imagination. We see it as a budget with its cold cash rather than as a movement that is bringing health and life to human beings in dire need. The Community Chest is not responded to by many because they do not have the imagination to picture human need that is being met and character that is being built. One who lacks imagination cannot be the proper Sunday school teacher or the leader of a boys' or girls' group. But when the imagination plays freely upon the infinite possibilities of a teacher in influencing choices and decisions and purposes in young lives one jumps with zest and alacrity into the task of teaching or leading."

"It is well to note that Jesus was done to death not merely by men who were sinful and evil but stupid as well. And that stupidity showed itself in a lack of imagination, the inability to see the good he was attempting for his fellows and the unborn generations. We are told of a monument erected to Giordano Bruno on the very spot where he was burned to death because he thought and lived ahead of his time and the monument bears this inscription, 'Erected to Giordano Bruno by a generation which he foresaw.' His own generation lacking the imagiination to see his good works demanded his life.

Would Outlaw War
If we only had the imagination to picture war with all of its ghastliness and hellish hideousness it would be outlawed with unquestioned determination and unqualified banishment. If we only had the imagination to picture slums and tenements, poverty and unemployment, misery and want, injustice and oppression our age would expel them and would be outraged to think of keeping them as the guests of our generation. But since we are unable to picture their ugliness and destructiveness and deadliness we countenance them and allow them to remain even in our enlightened day.

"If on the other hand we turn for a moment to the benefits that accrue when men have this power to imagine and to picture we look to David Livingstone whose imagination drove him to the heart of Africa to bring mercy and salvation, or to Father Damien whose imagination took him to a leper island to be the brother of men seized with this dread disease, or to John G. Paton, or to hundreds of their like, brothers of the brotherly imagination. Scientists, artists, educators, and religionists have brought untold freedom and unspeakable blessing to mankind because imagination has shown the way and they have gone on to achieve what their eyes saw."

"And the highest developed imagination of all we see in the One who was wounded for our transgressions and bruised for our iniquities. It is through his imagination in some way wrought out, that the salvation of mankind went through death to make a workable reality."

Editor, The Register.
Congratulations upon your splendid editorial "Free Speech Preservative of Democracy." It is gratifying to friends of civil liberty that your newspaper displays a real understanding of the principle of free speech, and the courage to defend that right.

If those gentlemen who are quoted as threatening to prevent addresses by men identified with the American Civil Liberties Union would learn that it is a felony under the laws of the United States to conspire to interfere with the exercise of constitutional rights of those with whom they don't agree. Also they would be advised that in Los Angeles interference with peaceful and lawful meetings has repeatedly been enjoined by the superior court.

Further than that, judgments of damages have been awarded here even to Communists, for interference with their rights by those whom your editorial so aptly characterizes as "super patriots." In these trying times the need of protecting the right of freedom of expression is particularly important.

As Mr. Justice Brandeis of the U. S. Supreme Court says, "Fear breeds repression; repression breeds hate; hate menaces stable government." Our organization will be glad to assist those of your readers who desire to organize to protect the liberties of the people in your city.

Pastor Outlines Progress In World As School Opens

ORANGE, Oct. 16.—Dr. Robert Burns McAulay, who addressed the members of the high school department of the Presbyterian church at the first meeting of the School of Missions Sunday at 5:45 p. m., contrasted "Grandfather's Day and Our Day."

Among the things compared in the two periods were communication, growth of the nation from 75 per cent rural as it was ten generations ago, to 75 per cent urban as it is now; manual labor and machine labor; married life; education and religion.

Dr. McAulay showed how the world today is a unit and how communication and swift travel has made it seem smaller than ever before. He showed the need of Christ in the modern world and told of the need of people learning to live together.

ORANGE GIRL S. F. DAVIDSON WED IN CHURCH

ORANGE, Oct. 16.—The First Christian church served as a setting for a wedding ceremony yesterday afternoon when Miss Alice Davidson and Stephen F. Davidson were united in marriage.

The impressive single ring ceremony was read by the Rev. Franklin Minck, pastor of the church. Miss Leota Ingle at the organ played "I Love You Truly" and the Lohengrin's wedding march as the bridal couple entered the church, which was decorated with white chrysanthemums and palms.

The bride wore a white satin gown, fashioned with a long train and tight fitting bodice. The veil her mother wore on her wedding day was caught to her hair in a cap effect. Her only ornaments were a gold cross and a bracelet gifts of the groom. She carried a lovely shower bouquet of gardenias and white sweet peas.

Miss Mattie Lee Hitter, of Santa Ana, maid of honor, wore a black satin and net dress. Miss Vivian Van Norman, also of Santa Ana, served as bridesmaid, wearing a black taffeta dress. Both attendants wore corsages of gardenias and carried bouquets of white sweet peas.

J. Willis Thompson served the bridegroom as best man, while Glenn Feldner served as usher.

The bride is the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Underwood, 605 West Chapman avenue. She is a graduate of the 1929 class of the Orange Union High school and attended Orange County Business college. The bridegroom is employed in the Thompson market on North Glassell street and has been a resident of Orange for a number of years.

Following the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Davidson left for a honeymoon in the northern part of California. Upon their return they will make their home in Orange.

Telephone Office Visit

The ninth grade class in electricity visited the Santa Ana telephone exchange with Norman Hicks instructor. The class meets during the last period on Tuesdays, so that those who wished could stay longer than the hour. The class was first shown the switchboard by one of the supervisors. She explained what happened when the ringing jacks, the long distance board and the place where "information" finds out what to tell you.

Next the class was shown the relay racks, charging apparatus, and the test board located on the third floor. The class was then taken to the basement to view the emergency power supply, the storage batteries, and the lead covered cables, carrying the telephone wires underground.

"Echo" Staff Play

"The Contest" directed by Miss Ruth Langley and Miss Vera Jacobs, was the title of the play presented by the "Echo" staff as the feature of Friday's assembly. This was a novelty stunt to create student interest in the school paper in which John Gutenberg, Benjamin Franklin and Arthur Brisbane judged the news mediums of the various periods of history. The play was instructive with an abundance of humorous situations.

Leon Kaplan took the part of "John Gutenberg"; Ferris Wall, "Benjamin Franklin"; and "Benjamin Franklin"; Abe Painsberger, "Ug"; editor's assistant; Thom Meyer, "Wogg"; Katherine Fox, "Babylonian office devil"; Janice Marguerat, "Trempeter"; Elieene Reid, "editor"; school reporter; Dorothy Grace, "Arthur Brisbane"; Dorothy Oleson, "Mrs. Dag"; Jesse Kerby, "Caesar"; and Marcella Stein, "page."

Following the play Mrs. Maurine Scott and Mr. Mitchell gave brief talks on the "Echo" and asked the student body to continue supporting it.

Mario Mercurio, former Willard student sang "O Sole Mio"; "Somewhere a Voice Is Calling"; and selections from the opera, "Bohemian Girl."

The low seven music class, directed by Miss Davis, sang, "Fleecy Clouds" by Beethoven, accompanied by Sylvia White, violin, and Virginia Bruns, piano. Concluding the program the Boys' Glee club, directed by Miss Davis and accompanied by David Hunter, sang "Where the River Flows Down to the Sea."

Stamp Club

The first meeting of the stamp club was called to order by John Henderson, president. Others holding offices are Russell Robinson vice-president; George Hyde, secretary; and Don Moxley, reporter. Members of the club are Edward Budd, Robert Scott, Tom Engle-

CANDIDATE IS PROGRESSIVE, ARDENT DRY

By THOMAS B. MALARKEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Oct. 16.—(UP)—Senator Herbert C. Jones of San Jose left political row gasping with amazement when he suddenly announced he would be a candidate for governor at the Republican primaries.

concluded, it may have far-reaching consequences. If Ex-Governor C. C. Young or Bert Meek, San Francisco, run for governor the progressive vote would be split. The San Jose solon is a veteran of 11 sessions. He is known as an ardent progressive and yet, unlike many of his political kin, has been strongly dry.

For years, Jones has been a steadfast opponent of public utilities and a believer in public ownership. He considers utilities have superimposed holding companies and built up such an overlapping executive set-up that consumers pay exorbitantly. Just this last session he labored long but unsuccessfully to pass a law bringing the larger holding companies under railroad commission jurisdiction.

Never a believer in a sales tax from the start, Jones led the senate fight for exemptions of foodstuffs and commodities. He voted

"no" on the bill on final passage. Unlike some other legislators who permitted the wet trend to change their views, Jones stood pat during the last session. For example, he voted against repeal of the Jones Still act (which he had authored) and was recorded voting "no" on the pari-mutuel horse racing bill which was later vetoed by the governor.

Jones was one of the big three—Inman, Jones and Rich—who made life miserable for Governor Rolph. He was a member of the Inman investigating committee and left no stone unturned to locate evidences of maladministration in state government.

The governor cracked back at him by charging the San Jose senator utilized his power as a senator for private gain in his law business.

and daughter, Beverly, spent Sunday visiting friends in Huntington Park and Eastmont. They were dinner guests Sunday evening of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Jameson in Eastmont.

Miss Emma DeVore, of Beverly Hills, was a guest this week of Miss Mabel McGee at her home on Central avenue.

Mrs. V. O. Taylor has arrived in Illinois for a visit with her daughter. She made the trip with the Rev. Louise Webster and Mrs. O. B. Johnson and went east because of the illness of her daughter.

Grant Sherman, C. W. Cooksey and M. Carlson spent the week end fishing near Big Bear.

Mrs. C. E. Baker and two children, of La Habra, and Miss Lucille Baker, of Placentia, left Tuesday for Oklahoma, where they will visit relatives. Miss Baker expects to return home sometime

In November, but Mrs. Baker and children are planning to remain until after Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Ludy and Mr. and Mrs. John Lebard attended the funeral Monday in Los Angeles of a family friend, Mrs. Rachel Meador. West Meador, son of Mrs. Meador, passed away on the day of his mother's funeral.

Mrs. Anna Launer accompanied the Albert Launers of Fullerton to Redlands Sunday, taking their daughter, Kathryn, back to Redlands university, where she is a student this year.

Roosevelt Checks Up Here On NRA Program Progress

ASKS REPORTS FROM EVERY S. A. EMPLOYER

President Roosevelt is checking up on accomplishments of the NRA program to date.

As a consequence Santa Ana postal workers tomorrow will hand to employers of this city a message from the nation's chief executive and a blank on which they are to report the number of employees and total payrolls for the pay periods nearest June 17 and October 14.

Each employer is to fill out the report and mail it back to President Roosevelt at the White House, Washington, D. C. Printed upon the blank is the president's message to the employers, which reads:

"To Every Employer: Two months ago I invited you to enter into an agreement with me to aid industrial recovery by shortening hours of work and by increasing wage rates. The time has come to take stock. The information here requested is necessary to determine the progress we have made. Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Among questions to which answers are sought are these:

"How many employees worked here during the pay period ending nearest (a) June 17, 1933; (b) October 14, 1933?"

"Total amount paid to these employees in salaries and wages for pay period ending nearest (a) June 17, 1933; (b) October 14, 1933."

Postmaster Terry E. Stephenson said that postmasters are instructed to deliver the questionnaires to each employer and place of business regardless of the number of employees. The message will go to business firms, professional offices, stores and factories and every other place where people are employed or do business.

"We have received 1200 questionnaires," Stephenson said, "and believe we can complete delivery to every employer and business place tomorrow. There may be some persons or places overlooked by the carriers. Anyone missed can secure a questionnaire at the post office. The questionnaire will be delivered in an envelope addressed to the president. This same envelope will be used for mailing the questionnaire after the questions have been answered. It will not require any postage."

INFLATION BOOMED AS SOVEREIGN REMEDY

Opponents Assail It As Threat

BY ROBERT TALLEY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—What lies behind this renewal cry of inflation of the nation's currency which, its sponsors claim, may result in the "march" of a million distressed farmers and workers on Washington to demand action and may become one of the biggest issues in the next congress?

The answer is a complicated one, but not hard to understand. It means simply that the inflationists believe the NRA and other features of the Roosevelt recovery program are failing to accomplish their aims; that Roosevelt now must use the power to inflate the currency which the "New Deal Congress" gave him, like a sheathing sword, to be used if and when he thought necessary. It was to be a last resort.

The demand for inflation arises principally from the debt-burdened farm belt of the south and the midwest, where farmers insist they must have cheaper dollars to pay off their debts or face ruin.

These inflationists would have the government start its printing presses whirling and print billions in new money. This money would be used by the government to pay salaries of federal employees, government expenses, and to reduce the federal debt. Thereby it would get into circulation. Unlike other money, which is backed by gold, this new fiat money would have nothing behind it but the good name and the credit of Uncle Sam.

Seen as Business Tonic
This inflation, its sponsors claim, would act as an immediate and powerful stimulant to business. By cheapening the dollar, it automatically would raise prices, and business thrives on a rising market. Moreover, they say, it would rescue millions now hopelessly morassed in debt, enabling them to pay out with these cheaper dollars.

Ninety per cent of the nation's business is conducted by credit, not cash. But the inflationists are sure that the expansion of cash would have, psychologically, a similar effect on credit.

Thus far, at least, President Roosevelt has turned thumbs down on inflation currency. As an alternative, he is trying a new method to expand credit by various means.

Given Wide Powers
To date the president has not deemed it necessary to invoke, except in a limited way, any of the three methods for currency inflation that congress gave him to use in his discretion:

ONLY ONE METHOD USED

The three powers of currency inflation given President Roosevelt by Congress . . . thus far he has used only one of them, that of increasing the Federal Reserve credits of banks, and even this in a very limited way.

First, was authority to require the Federal Reserve Board to buy $3,000,000,000 of obligations of the government in so-called open market operations. This plan takes money invested in government securities and restores it to business. Since May, the board has bought $367,000,000.

Second, the president can issue $3,000,000,000 in new money, backed not by gold, but merely by the government's credit, and use this money to buy back and retire government bonds. He has taken no action.

Third, the president can cheapen the dollar by reducing its value in gold by as much as 50 per cent, and he also can provide for the unlimited coining of silver at any designated ratio. He has taken no action.

Dollar Would Be Cheapened
Either of the last two methods would be inflation of a strong sort, provided it resulted in a great increase in the nation's money. The value of the dollar would be reduced greatly; dollars would become more plentiful, but they would buy less. However, these cheap new dollars could be used to pay off old debts.

In view of the inflationists' claim that the Roosevelt recovery program has proved inadequate.

the NRA, designed to restore buying power by creating jobs and boosting the wages of millions; and the Agricultural Adjustment Act, designed to bring higher prices to the farmer by reducing the nation's tremendous farm surplus and compensating the farmer for his acreage reductions with funds derived from process taxes on his commodities.

Spurred by the prospect of rising prices and better times (and also, by the veiled threat of currency inflation), the swiftest business recovery in the nation's history began. Thousands trooped back to work in mills and factories; the farmer suddenly found prices of wheat, corn and hogs traveling swiftly upward.

Production Rises Swiftly
Recovery soared. From a low point of 45.4 per cent below normal in March, 1933, industrial production rose to 39 per cent below normal in April, 29.9 per cent below in May, 17.2 per cent in June, and only 9.1 per cent below in July.

With July came the turn of the tide. In August, industrial production dropped back to 16.3 below normal and, according to estimates, the September figure will show a further drop.

The farmer who had been carried to a brief period of comparative prosperity by the soaring prices of his crops, soon found himself in almost as bad a fix as before; his prices started back down, but prices of things the farmer buys kept on rising. In August, this disparity was greater than it had been in July—but it still is less than it was a year ago.

Meanwhile, farm prices lag while retail prices continue upward. Especially is the cotton farmer suffering in this respect.

Recession Held Normal
While pro-inflationists, especially debt-burdened farmers, see in these developments the inadequacy of the Roosevelt recovery program, many others disagree.

The latter declare that a temporary recession in recovery upward is to be expected, in view of the phenomenal gains made before July. Moreover, such variation may be mostly seasonal and with the coming of the fall market, business may start again.

To inflate now—or pin our hopes to the Blue Eagle and farm rehabilitation?

You can hear it argued either way.

How industrial production, after rising rapidly for several months, has declined since July is shown in the above chart, prepared by the Cleveland Trust Company.

little kitchen worries and let her straighten them out.

The lectures will be conducted in a most informal manner and Miss Lane says that she likes to feel as though the women in the audience had "just dropped in" of an afternoon, rather than attending a lecture.

There will be many different dishes prepared on each of the three mornings—explained step-by-step, rather than attending a lecture.

Dinner Guests Enjoy Tempting Venison Menu

A little group of friends bidden to dine Friday evening with Mr. and Mrs. T. Byron Fellows, 728 South Flower street, had a culinary treat when Mrs. Fellows served a delicious venison dinner. Her father, O. H. Staples of Irvine, has been on a hunting trip at Red Bluff in the northern part of the state, and the venison was part of the evidence of his skill as a marksman.

Places were laid for the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Fellows, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton McGee, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dunn, Miss Neva McDonald and Paul Walter. The table was quite charming with its satin damask and its vivid yellow flowers with pretty yellow glass containing the color scheme.

Cards were played informally during the evening, some of the guests finding diversion in bridge and some in 500.

Girl Scouts

Live Oak Troop

Friday afternoon's business meeting of Girl Scout Troop No. 4 in the First M. E. church hall, had several matters of general business interest before the group separated into its individual patrols. One of these was the choice of Live Oak as the name of the troop.

Decision was reached to change the meeting day from Friday to Thursday afternoon to accommodate the Girl Scouts in high school. Also action was taken to drop automatically from membership any girl who was absent for three successive meetings without sufficient excuse.

Troop members passing their tenderfoot tests were Mildred Hemper, Evelyn Owens, Lillian Laub, Ruth Hawley and Jean Dowds. Others present were Helen Allison, Ruth Ames, Barbara Bird, Marilyn Dick, Dorothy Gemmell, Orell Myers, Patricia Swarthout, Lois Weiman, Marjorie Wall, Betty Jean Reed, Eleanor Straub and Ellen Blake.

TUNNEL ROAD PAVED

The road from Yosemite to the Big Trees via the new highway tunnel is paved through the tunnel, followed by oiling work in short stretches to Wawona, reports the Automobile Club of Southern California. The work is not interfering with travel as half the roadway is being oiled at a time. Stretches of dirt road are graded and in good condition.

Birthday Anniversary Of Host Occasions Bridge Party

L. M. Witt's birthday anniversary on Saturday, occasioned an enjoyable party at which Mrs. Witt entertained that evening in her home, 811 Kilson Drive. The approach of Halloween was suggested by the decorative theme of the evening, with masses of goldenrod used throughout the rooms, and a Halloween refreshment course of pie and coffee concluding the evening.

Three tables of bridge were in play, and when scores were tallied Mrs. C. Van Dusen held high for the evening, and Mrs. Kenneth Haas low, so to them were presented the pretty prizes which the hostess had in readiness. Award of prizes did not conclude the gift feature of the evening, for guests, aware that the party celebrated their host's natal date, had arranged for a complete kit of shaving accessories as a special birthday gift for him.

Sharing the enjoyable evening with Mr. and Mrs. Witt were Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Huelskamp, Mr. and Mrs. C. Van Dusen, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Haas and Mr. and Mrs. Irving Reese.

EAT AND GROW SLIM

Breakfast
Choice of:
Baked Cinnamon apple
Ripe Pear
1 scrambled egg on
1 thin slice bran toast
1 cup coffee with
1/4 cup hot skim milk, no sugar
Calory total, 310.

Some families just naturally do not like baked apples. Don't let them be that way—make them eat 'em and like it!

Parse and quarter large tart apples; put them in a pan with a handful of cinnamon candies and 1/4 cup of hot water. Squeeze the juice of a lemon over the apples and bake until tender in a slow oven, turning the quarters so that they will color evenly. Chill and serve with thin cream for all but the dieting member of family.

These same cinnamon apples make an awfully good looking garnish on a dinner plate—hot chicken, pork chops or roast, or ham.

Scramble the egg with 3 tablespoons of hot skim milk and use 1/2 tsp. of butter in the pan. Have it very soft and creamy when poured over the hot toast, which is not buttered in case you feel like slipping one over on the diet.

A New Way To Season Carrots.
Prepare for boiling and in the water put a clove of garlic, gashed, and a little sugar. Take out garlic when carrots are cooked, mash them, dress with butter, salt and pepper, and add enough vinegar to make them slightly acid. Make very hot before serving.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Carrot Ham
3 cups diced carrots
2 small onions
3 tbsps. butter
1/2 tsp. salt
Pinch of ground cloves
1 tbs sugar and
1 tsp. flour, mixed together
2 cups tomato puree
1 1/2 cups warm water
Heaping cup minced RAW ham.

—Contributed recipe.
I think time might be saved by running carrots and onions through the food chopper. Fry them gently in the butter, with the nutmeg, cloves, etc. Stir frequently and watch that the mixture doesn't scorch the least bit. After the frying is through (about 10 minutes) add the ham, tomato puree and hot water. Mix together and put into a buttered casserole. Bake 2 hours in a slow oven (250-275 degrees F.).

The Contributor says: "This dish can be prepared the day before and reheated with the addition of a little more tomato juice or water. It should be quite moist." (That means that the finished dish must be served from the casserole with a spoon and broad cake server.)

The calories in this dish total a trifle over 1000; it is a well balanced main dish, requiring only baked potato or macaroni to complete the picture.

I am ever so pleased when these low-cost main dishes come in from women who have been cutting the corners since '28. We need them, lots of 'em, so keep them coming until we get through the winter.

As some of you know, you may have a copy of the big Calory List if you'll send in a tested recipe and a stamped, self-addressed envelope, AND the Safe and Sound Reducing Diet along with the list. How's that for an offer?

Tuesday: Cranberry cocktail; novel and delicious.

Las Meninas
Japanese lanterns, beach chairs, and games equipment contrived to make a jolly evening for guests and members of Las Meninas when that jaycee club invited rushees to a kid party Thursday evening in the home of Miss Frances Robinson, Orange.

Costumes ranging from pinafores to rompers were worn by guests and hostesses who were supervised in games by Miss Genevieve Humiston and Miss Dorothy Decker in nursemaid frocks.

The merriment was climaxed by the serving of school lunches in paper bags, prepared by Miss Allie Buck. Assisting in the evening's details were Miss Kay Holmes, Miss Marian Leihy, Miss Betty Whitney and Miss Robinson. Hostesses attending besides Miss Robinson were the Misses Joy McPhee, Norma Wilson, Evelyn Furtch, Marian Leihy, Ruth Crowl, Emma Seamans, Dorothy Tedford, Allie Buck, Leonora Walker, Kay Holmes, Betty Whitney, Jo Derigo and Miss Decker and Miss Humiston.

Sisterhood of Spinsters

When Sisterhood of Spinsters and guests arrived at the home of Miss Elizabeth Downie, Santiago street, following the Jaycee-U.C. L. A. football game Friday night, a weird atmosphere greeted them. For flickering candles cast shadows upon various articles which carried out Friday, the thirteenth, motif.

Bridge tables were in green and white checks headed by No. 13. A midnight supper served on the card tables spread with green and white checked gingham, carried out the superstitious theme in details of the menu and in the place cards of small broken mirrors. Miss LeOra Hatch and Miss Florence Campbell served the supper.

Rushees were the Misses Dorothy Spicer, Martha Tutill, Janet Diehl, Kathryn Sexton, Mildred London, Susanna Alexander, Marian Hawk, Mary Jane Mitchell, Frankie Fern McDonald, Lila Davis, Caro Cogan, Harriett Abrams, Mary Adams, Eleanor Bowyer, Medora Smith, Vivian Russell, Eleanor Walter, Mary Carson, Yvette Blank and Kathryn Cornwell. Double Birthday Date Occasions Party

Plans of Mrs. Mason Squires and a group of friends to surprise both Mr. Squires and Mrs. Elizabeth Smithwick on their joint birthday anniversary, resulted in an enjoyable party Saturday evening in the Squires ranch home near Orange.

Arriving guests found the home attractive with autumn leaves and the blending colors of many chrysanthemums. Court whist was played with prizes for high score awarded Mrs. George Acock of Orange and Frank Monahan of Anaheim, holders of high scores. With the presentation, guests staged the second surprise of the evening, a shower of handkerchiefs for Mrs. Smithwick and a shower of neckties for the host.

Refreshments served to conclude the enjoyable event featured two decorated birthday cakes, one for each of the honor guests.

Present in addition to Mr. and Mrs. Squires were Mr. and Mrs. George Acock of Orange, Mrs. Meta Clark of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Monahan of Anaheim, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Scott, Mrs. Elizabeth Smithwick, Mrs. Nannie Meyers, M. R. Cook and Charles Smith, Santa Ana.

P.-T. A. PLANS FATHERS' NIGHT ON OCTOBER 18

FULLERTON, Oct. 16.—Fathers' night which will be observed at the next meeting of Wilshire Ave. Parent-Teacher Ass'n is scheduled for October 18 at 7:30 o'clock in the auditorium of the school, Otis LeRoss, instructor in Fullerton District Junior college, will talk on "Educational Guidance." There will be special music and after the session, refreshments will be served. A report on the soup kitchen, made at the executive board meeting Friday held at the school, with Mrs. C. W. Hart presiding, is that it will start October 23. Soup will be served to all desiring it, to those who can pay a small sum of money and to others free. Those in charge of the work are the American Legion auxiliary, Mondays; Mrs. Freed, Tuesdays; the auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Wednesdays; Mrs. William Fowler, Thursdays; and Mrs. Vesta Stolle, Fridays. All who can assist are asked, to call Mrs. Hart or Mrs. Fowler. Assistance for the kitchen is being given by the Irvine ranch, by the 20-30 club of Fullerton, by the Fullerton Sanitary laundry, where the laundry work is being done free of charge, and the Southern Meat company. Vegetables this year, like last year, are to be supplied in part through the Unemployed association. The study group of the Parent-Teacher association will hold a first meeting October 27 with Mrs. E. H. King, 618 North Harvard, at 10 a. m. Mrs. Clarence Vandenberg is chairman of the group.

'SACRIFICE OF CHRIST' TOPIC OF REV. HAWES

FULLERTON, Oct. 16.—"We are living in days of a dying civilization and there is no way to save it, to bring it back to life, except that it enthroned Christ and His doctrines," the Rev. Francis E. Hawes declared last night in a sermon at the First Baptist church on "The Sacrifice of Christ." The pastor outlined the types of sacrifice as they pertain to Christ and as they are outlined in the old Testament. He took as his text, John 3:16-17, and particularly the verse, "Ye search the scriptures, for in them ye think ye have eternal life, and they are they which testify of Me." He said that the same difficulty surrounds the Christian world today as surrounded it then, when Christ made those statements, and the solution is the finding of "Christ" in those scriptures and in life. He discussed the four sacrifices as portrayed in the Old Testament, as portraying the sacrifices of Christ, that of the personal sacrifice, portrayed in Genesis; that of the family sacrifice, as portrayed in the 12th chapter of Exodus; that of the national sacrifice, as portrayed in Leviticus 4:13-15, and that of the world sacrifice, as portrayed in His life and death, and outlined in John 3:16. Preceding the sermon, the pastor announced that the school of missions, started October 8, and meeting under several heads at 6:30 p. m. for the older groups, and at 9:30 a. m. for the younger groups, is showing marked growth, and had 251 in attendance yesterday.

MERCHANTS IN G. L. VAN EATON VICTORY OVER WEBERS, 3 TO 0 90TH BIRTHDAY

FULLERTON, Oct. 16.—Behind Errol Stoner's four-hit pitching performance, the Fullerton Merchants shut out the Weber Bread nine, 3 to 0, at the Fullerton baseball stadium yesterday afternoon. In pitching Fullerton to victory, Stoner struck out 13 of the 36 men who faced him and was never in danger, as none of the visitors reached second safely. Stoner, who tried out with the Pittsburgh Pirates at Paso Robles this spring, has been signed by the San Francisco Seals and will report for spring training with the Pacific Coast club next year. "Lefty" Leffer, Los Angeles moundsman, entered into a pitching duel with Stoner, holding his own with the husky Olive right-hander for five innings. In the sixth, Fullerton rallied, with James Flanagan driving a single to right and scoring on Otto Brandt's double, the only extra base hit of the contest. Brandt scored on an outfield fly. The third Fullerton tally came in the eighth with Richard Joyce singling and going to second on a passed ball. He scored on Flanagan's third single of the contest. Weber Bread Fullerton

MRS. ENOCH FROJEN HONOREE AT DINNER

FULLERTON, Oct. 16.—Mrs. Enoch Frojen was guest of honor Saturday night, when Mrs. Ralph Irwin entertained jointly for her and for Mr. Irwin in observance of his anniversary. Mrs. Frojen and children have been spending the summer in Fullerton. They will sail October 28 for Hamburg, Germany, where Mr. Frojen is located. He is a representative of a large American meat packing firm there. Attending the dinner, which was served at a table decorated in Spanish motifs, and was served in Spanish style, were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hemmehalt, Dr. and Mrs. H. G. Howe, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Horner, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Butler, Mr. and Mrs. William Wade, Mr. and Mrs. Irwin and Mrs. Frojen.

Malvern poet. Beautiful flower gifts and boxes of candy and other presents were presented, besides the one large gift. Included in the birthday cakes was a particularly beautiful cake presented by Mrs. Jennie Minton, daughter, and her son and family and other relatives; another was presented by Mrs. Maude Thompson, president of the Malvern Hill Helpers circle; another by Mrs. Mona Tanner, secretary of the G. A. R., and one by the grand-daughter of the honoree, Mrs. Glen Minton.

YELLOWJACKETS TAKE OPENING GAME, 13 TO 6

FULLERTON, Oct. 16.—Showing flashes of unexpected power, Arthur L. Nunn's Fullerton District Junior college Yellowjackets subdued Arthur E. Schaefer's San Bernardino Indians, 13-6, in opening game of the Eastern division of the Southern California junior college conference, Saturday. Fullerton's backfield combination of Elmer (the great) Pryor quarterback, and Heba Player, plunging fullback, operating behind a line that held like the Rock of Gibraltar, led a smashing attack that spelled the Tribe's doom. Pryor carried the ball 41 times for 159 yards, while Player, Southern California prep heavyweight wrestling champion, gained 58 yards in 11 plays. Player is playing his first year of football. A 52-yard quick kick, downed on the Fullerton one-yard line paved the way for the visitors' score, as a poor 15-yard punt enabled Bob Schietzer, ace Indian quarter, to race to a score. Crawford's attempted placement for the extra point was wide. After recovering a fumble on the Tribe's 40-yard line, the Fullerton team marched to its first score in the second period, with Pryor carrying the leather most of the way.

V. F. W. Auxiliary Elects Officers

FULLERTON, Oct. 16.—New officers were elected when members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary met Friday night at Odd Fellows' temple, with Mrs. Grover Walters, named president, Mrs. William Gunby, senior vice president; Mrs. J. M. Pearson, junior vice president; Mrs. J. Mumm, treasurer; Mrs. Daniel Russell, chaplain; Mrs. Leo Fallert, conductor; Mrs. H. B. Phillips, guard; Mrs. George Messer, trustee. The next meeting will be October 26, with a pot luck supper at 6:30 p. m. at the hall. The social group will meet October 29, with Mrs. W. E. Christensen on West La Palma, Anaheim.

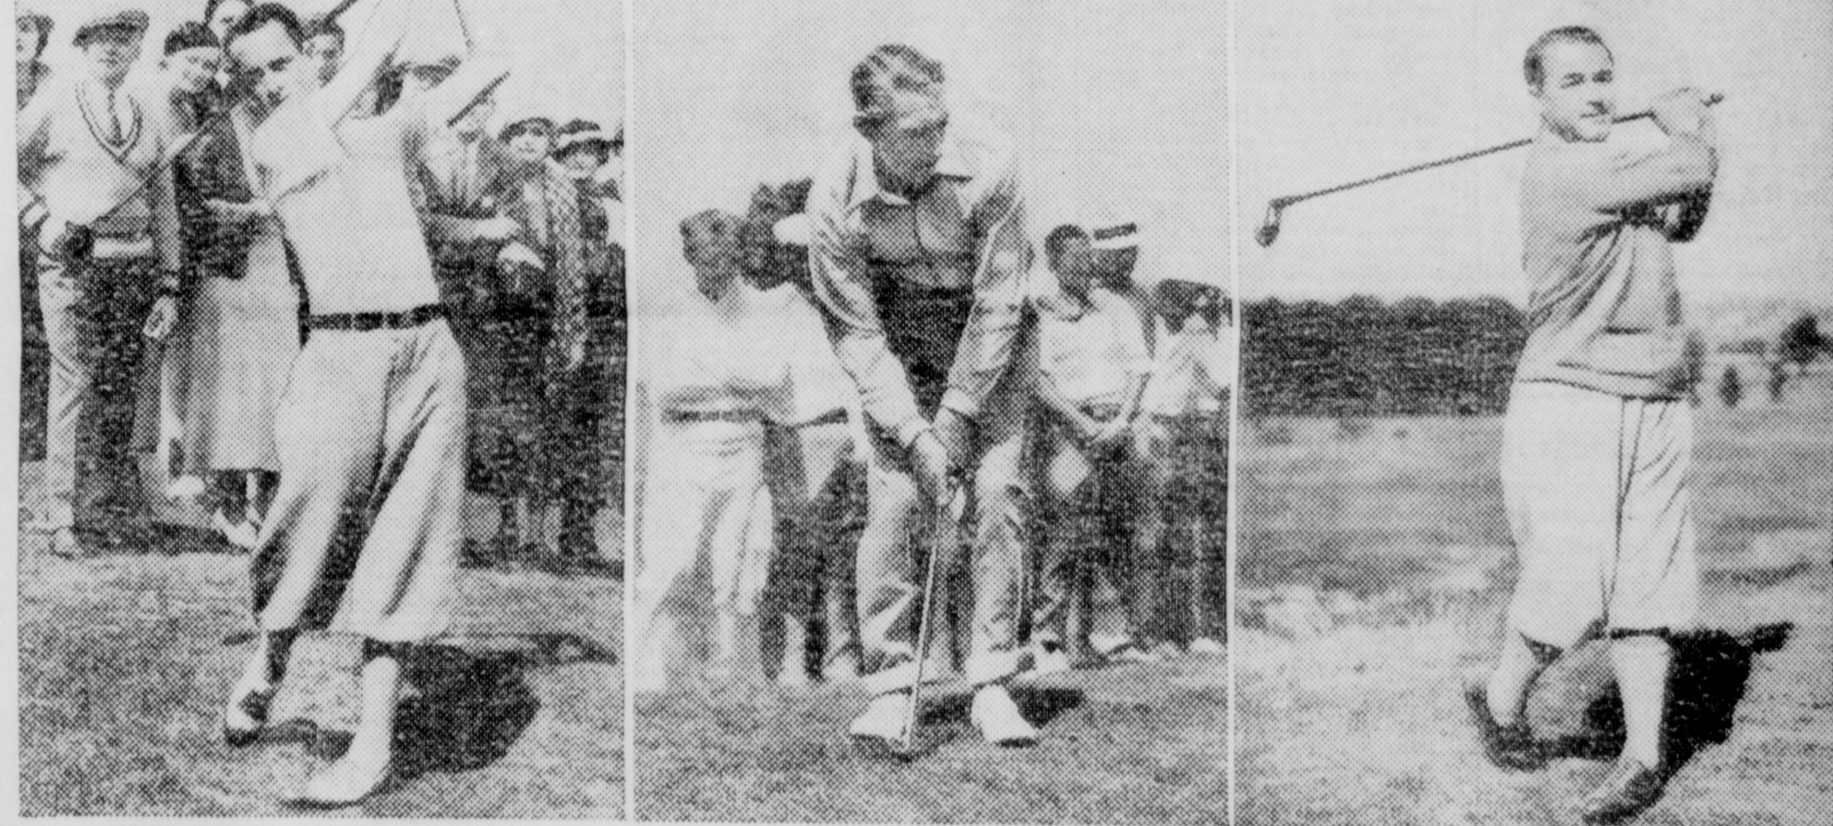

A seven-yard pass from Pryor to William Brown scored. Pryor's placement was wide. Taking the opening kickoff in the third period and returning it 18 yards, Ralph Zwolsman started the Hornets on the way to another tally. In this 60-yard drive Pryor and Player alternated in lugging the leather to the 13-yard line where Fullerton was penalized 15 yards for holding. A 25-yard pass from Pryor to Zwolsman put the ball on the one-yard line from where Pryor crashed over. Pryor's placement sailed through the uprights but the Jackets received a five-yard penalty for offside. A seven-yard pass from Pryor to Zwolsman, however, brought the extra point.

MAN KILLED BY LOAD OF PIPE; ANOTHER HURT

FULLERTON, Oct. 16.—Garth V. Reed, 24, of Buena Park, is dead and Joseph Severns, 22, is seriously injured as a result of an unusual accident Saturday afternoon, when a pipe they were unloading rolled off the truck on them. An inquest was scheduled to be held over the body of Reed this afternoon at the McAulay and Suters Funeral home, where the remains were brought after the accident. The men, employees of the drilling company working on the Plymouth well three miles north of Buena Park, were caught under the pipe as it fell from the truck. Severns, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Severns, 3024 East First Street, Long Beach, was working for his father, foreman of the drilling company. He sustained a badly dislocated hip and many other injuries, but it is thought he will recover. He is at the Fullerton General hospital. Reed, who is survived by his widow, Olive Reed, was killed instantly. Mrs. Reed is visiting in Arizona and has been notified of the tragic accident. He also is survived by his parents, who reside at Bellflower.

IT TAKES HEALTHY NERVES

TO PLAY CHAMPIONSHIP GOLF!

DENSMORE SHUTE—Britons gasped and gaped when he won the 1933 British Open over St. Andrews' deceptive fairways and angry bunkers. Golf prophets say Shute will line up with Golf Immortals. Answering a question, Shute recently said: "I have tried all the brands, and long ago found that Camels are milder, and what is even more important to any golfer, they do not jangle the nerves."

TOMMY ARMOUR—Often called "Wizard of the Irons," Armour has won a flock of championships, including the U. S. Open in 1927, the P. G. A. in 1930, the British Open in 1931. Tommy knows his golf and his cigarettes. "What do I think of Camels? They are my brand and have been for years. I smoke a lot but I must be sure that my nerves are healthy and my head is clear—that's why I prefer Camels."

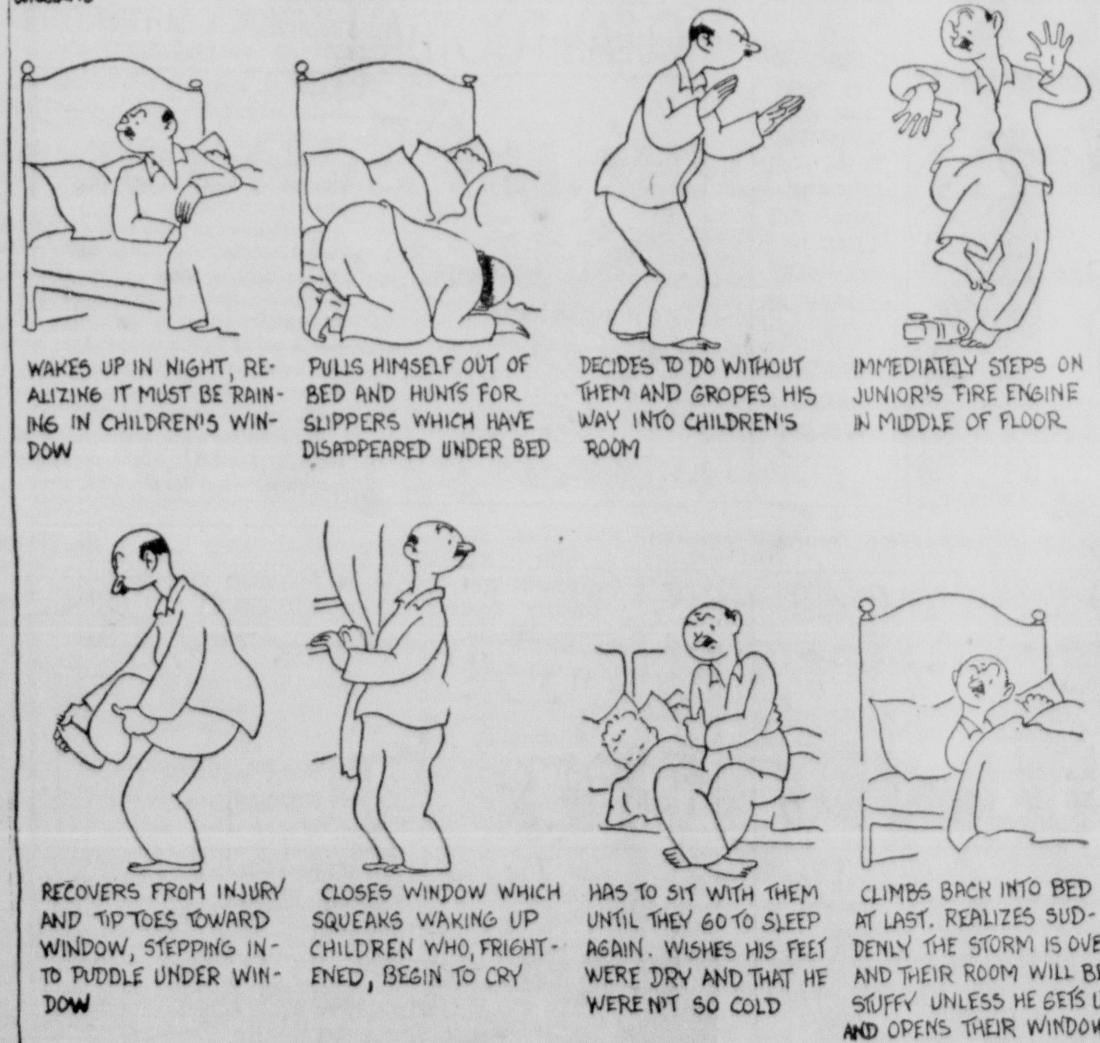

GENE SARAZEN—This great golfer began his winning ways in 1922 when he became U. S. Open Champion. He has been a consistent tournament winner ever since. This year he won his third P. G. A. Championship. On the subject of cigarettes Sarazen says: "I agree with Shute and Armour—I smoke Camels, too. They always taste good—and they never interfere with my nerve control."

Steady Smokers turn to Camels

Men and women whose work and play demand healthy nerves and level heads prefer Camels. Active people agree that they can smoke these fine-flavored, milder cigarettes without fear of jangling their nerves.

Another thing about active people—they are pretty generally steady smokers... And, as anyone who smokes Camels will tell you, you can smoke as many of these cigarettes as you want—and never have a "cigarette" aftertaste. The last cigarette at night tastes as good as the first in the morning, if you smoke Camels.

Try a package of Camels today... Enjoy the superior flavor of their costlier tobaccos. If you are a steady smoker you will appreciate the fact that Camels never get on your nerves, never tire your taste.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

The old man watched the Tines dance and finally said, "I'll take a chance on passing you as Indians. Why, you'd fool most any one."

"The war dance you put on was real. Now, tell me, lads, how do you feel? I want nobody too tired out to join in the fun."

"Well, as for me, I'm fagged a bit," said Doty. "I think we should sit and rest a little while before we start out on a hike."

"Right now I couldn't run a step. A rest will give us all new pep," "All right," replied the man. "You all can do just as you like."

up a while and then he took a snooze.

About an hour passed by, and then wee Scouty was awake again. He shouted to the rest, "Wake up! We've no more time to lose!"

Their friend, the old man, soon said, "Now, I'll tell you all exactly how we're going to pull our big surprise. I'm going to lead the way."

"We'll rush into the Indian camp and frighten every Indian scared. All right, lads, let's get started. We will have some fun today."

So, through the woods they trailed along. Soon Goldy broke into a song. The others shortly joined her and it was a pretty air. The old man said, "I like to hear you sing, but you must stop it fear. The Indian camp is just ahead. Now, get set for the scare."

And then the whole bunch rushed right in. My goodness, what an awful din! All of the Tines shouted just as loud as they could shout.

Although the whole stunt was in play, some tiny Indians raced away. "Hey, wait!" cried Scouty, "till you find what this is all about."

PADDOCK IN TALK AT LAGUNA BEACH

LAGUNA BEACH, Oct. 16.—Athletic training of the young serves several purposes in life by developing courage, gameness, the fighting spirit to reach a certain goal, sacrifice, a sense of sportsmanship and international friendship. Charley Paddock, former "world's fastest human," told members of the Rotary club meeting Friday noon at the White House cafe. This answer was made to his own query, "Why is there so much interest in athletics?"

The former Olympic champion cited gameness and courage as requisites of the champion. He classed football in college as the most popular of sports and said that the thrills overshadow the few accidents that mar the game.

High praise was given to Jim Thorpe, whom Paddock called "the greatest all-round athlete who ever lived." He told the story of how Thorpe was forced to return the trophies won at Stockholm in 1912 to Wieslander, who placed second. Wieslander sent back the box of trophies, with the words, "I didn't win." Thorpe had been disqualified because he played semi-professional baseball the summer before the Olympic games.

Paddock was introduced by A. C. Peterson, Sherman Paddock was a special guest.

DEAD DOCTOR HEALS STOMACH AILMENTS

A strange weird story is told of the kindly healing hand of a well-known specialist reaching from the grave to help people ward off stomach trouble. This specialist years ago created a prescription for victims of stomach ulcers, acid stomach, gas pains, heartburn, indigestion, bloating, belching and other symptoms when caused by excess acid. One patient after another reported rapid relief. But, like Lincoln, his name brought him greater fame after death as one who told another of his wonderful prescription. In all, over 54,000 people have written grateful letters telling how this prescription helped them. It is now known to over 200,000 former stomach sufferers as the Unga treatment. Any stomach sufferer may receive a 15-day trial treatment without risking a penny. Simply send your name and address for full details to Unga, Inc. 961 Ford-Schulze Bldg., St. Paul, Minn. SPANISH VILLAGE PUPILS IN PLAYS

SAN CLEMENTE, Oct. 16.—Girls and boys of the seventh and eighth grades presented competitive plays in a program given before the Mothers' club Friday afternoon in the grammar school auditorium. The girls' play, entitled "Our Mistake," and the boys', "Our School Days," depicted scenes in a classroom. Both were written and staged by the children of the in-part. The audience, voting by ballot, judged the girls' production the best by a majority of one vote.

The career of Christopher Columbus in his discovery of America was shown in a series of pictures with an explanatory playlet staged by the children of the intermediate grades. A talk on "Sheets, the Lion," was given by Bug Shoemaker. "The Tarantula" was the subject of a talk by Beatrice Swigart. Eileen Barry read an essay on "Gems and Their Meaning." Ellen Mock and Ruth

WORK ON TIDELANDS WELL NEAR H. B. SLATED TO BEGIN TUESDAY

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Oct. 16.—The Preston Oil company has completed installation of machinery in new steel derrick on the tideland off lease one mile west of the west city limits and will start in the first well Tuesday night, starting with the night shift. Wolf brothers are drilling the well, with George Wolf in charge.

The Bolsa Celha Land company, on whose 1600 acre tract just west of Huntington Beach, the Standard Oil company has a lease with 48 producing wells, has refused a right of entry to the tideland lease and in conjunction with other interests in vicinity of the lease, has obtained an injunction in the courts of Orange county, which prevents the entry onto the tideland lease.

Longbottom from the primary department recited poems.

The next program will be given October 26 at 8 p. m. The public is invited to attend.

The lease owners have had to use a right of way to the beach at Sunset Beach and drag their equipment for drilling and the material for the steel derrick up the beach between tide flows, in order to rig up their derrick. In retaliation there is talk by oil men of asking the county supervisors to demand that the Bolsa Celha tract be opened along the section lines clear through to the tidelands or beach, for county highways. The oil operators claim there is a law by which the county supervisors can demand a right of way for a highway at every section line.

VERDI OPERA TO BE KREG FEATURE

Tonight's Music Appreciation presentation by Madame Rosemary Rose, noted artist-teacher, will discuss Giuseppe Verdi and his opera "La Forza del Destino," and Giacomo Meyerbeer and his opera "Les Huguenots." At 8 o'clock to-night, KREG. The aria "Pace, Mio Dio" and "Nobles Seigneurs" from these operas will be sung during the presentation.

Assisting Madame Rose will be Mrs. Irma May, soprano; Miss Marion Graf, soprano; and Miss Georgia Belle Walton, violinist. Miss Walton has been referred to by Charles Wakefield Cadman, the noted composer, as a "most estimable violinist with a sympathetic approach to violin literature, as well as possessing a most artistic conception of the works she interprets."

She is a Santa Ana artist who has received enthusiastic response from critics and the press wherever she has been heard in Southern California and for her delightful broadcasts previously made from KREG, according to station officials.

KREG NOTES

The Santa Ana Council Executive Board P-T-A. broadcast this evening at 8 o'clock from KREG will present Mrs. Sam Preble, program chairman of the council, who will speak on "Past Accomplishments and Present Problems of the P-T-A." Ruth Riggie will discuss the California P-T-A magazine, and W. G. Axworthy, "cellist, accompanied by Mildred Marchant, will play selected numbers.

Following the Dinner Hour presentation of salon music, "Ternan's Typewriter Tempos" will offer lifting hits of the day in popular rhythm at 8:15 tonight. KREG. These broadcasts are made each Monday and Thursday of the week at this time.

Another program by the "Arkansas Boys" who made their radio debut last Monday on KREG is scheduled for tonight at 7:30 with hill billy tunes and favorite melodies of yesterday.

Bonnie Mae Martin will offer another program of popular melodies tomorrow morning at 11:45 in response to many requests. She accepts requests for either popular or classical numbers.

"Sorority Shop Syncopations" at 4:30 tomorrow afternoon, KREG will have more things of interest to tell discriminating women of Orange county and will offer a program of popular music in presentation with the title of the presentation. These broadcasts are anticipated with eagerness by many women each Tuesday and Thursday of the week as they announce outstanding values in women's apparel featured by the Sorority Shop.

RADIO FEATURES

The quartet will contrast "Andie Laurie" with "The Last Round-Up" from the New Ziegfeld Folies during the broadcast of the Contended program over an NBC network including KFI at 7 tonight.

Another imposing guest artist roster featuring Alida Brady, Elissa Landi, Frank Morgan and George Givot will be heard during the Blue Monday jamboree over KJH at 8 tonight.

TUESDAY

Henry T. Hunt, general counsel, Federal Emergency Public Works Administration, and Professor Charles E. Merriam, of the University of Chicago, will discuss "National Credit for Local Needs" during the You and Your Government program over an NBC network, including KECA and KFSD at 4:15 p. m. Tuesday.

Pasadena Defeats Santa Ana, 60

closed. The Saints' strategy in calling for Hendrie to run end on fourth down, with 5 yards to go, was questionable.

Santa Ana's other threats were mild, the first dying out on Pasadena's 34-yard line in the first quarter when Acquavelli intercepted the pass that started the Bulldogs to victory; the second expiring on the 58-yard mark where Hendrie was smeared before he could get away a fourth down pass; the third petering out on the 43.

Santa Ana felt keenly the loss of Roland Williams, veteran tackle, and Capt. Ford Underwood, who captured the pass that started the Bulldogs to victory; the second expiring on the 58-yard mark where Hendrie was smeared before he could get away a fourth down pass; the third petering out on the 43.

WOMAN'S BODY FOUND IN SACK AT SAN DIEGO

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 16.—(UP)—A former convict was sought by police today as a suspect in the brutal slaying of a woman whose dissected body was found in two sacks floating in San Diego bay.

Search for the suspect, known only as Tom Jones, was started shortly after the body was identified as that of Mrs. Laura Ella Straw, 55. Police said the man had been living at her home since she found him penniless several weeks ago and befriended him. A sailor's duffie bag provided police with a clue. Sections of the body had been stuffed into the heavy bag and cast into the waters. The torso was found in a cement bag.

CUBA SUBJECT FOR RELATIONS COUNCIL

Announcement in a change of program for the meeting tonight of the Santa Ana Council of International Relations was made today by E. L. Beeman, Dean of the University of the Pacific, Junior College, scheduled as the principal speaker will not be able to attend.

THE LEGION FAILING IN ITS GREAT OPPORTUNITY

The other evening the county representatives of the American Legion listened to a statement by one of their members who was designated the "Americanization committee chairman." After listening to him, they passed a resolution with no dissenting vote, which carried out in part the spirit of the address of this chairman.

In his address he flayed organizations and men, including one of the leading clergymen of Santa Ana, and The Register primarily for defending free speech and particularly assailed speakers of a forum, and attributed the support and the sponsorship of this forum practically to ignorance.

The "crimes" which have been committed or are being committed by those who were assailed by the speaker, and "rapped" by the resolution, as far as we can observe, are that they are endeavoring, through the exercise of the privileges of our government, to help the needy and the unemployed, to examine into our condition, and to suggest ways and means, that might be helpful to the individual and to the masses, in this, their period of great distress.

There is no need to make reply to the nature of this resolution or to the address that was made by this man. The mere statement of the facts is a sad enough comment. But the more unfortunate situation is that the great opportunity for leadership which this organization has is being thrown away, due to the activities of such men.

What a wonderful opportunity it has! The material, the educational, the moral and the spiritual forces of our nation are today in something of a chaotic condition. The people are groping around as "sheep without a shepherd," looking for leadership and a way out. The President is anxious to find the way. He is experimenting—he frankly admits it. But he is doing something, and some people are calling him "radical," because he declares that all must be fed, clothed and sheltered this winter.

Those who are deeply interested in conditions are holding discussions, bringing the best minds for suggestion, to public meetings, and light is being thrown upon the highway.

There is leadership demanded on the question of the control of alcoholic beverages, for we have already found that drunkenness and drunken driving and other criminality is coming back with liquor.

Leadership is demanded by the millions of the unemployed, made up in part by hundreds of thousands of young men who have never had a job, and do not know what wage-earning means, because they have had no opportunity. Some of the ex-service men have had no job since the war. They are looking for a way out. And all acknowledge that with plenty here, only our method of distribution is at fault.

Our educational group, with the problem of limited income, and of greater need, are looking for the right road on which to travel. Of one thing all real educators are certain; that the way to discern truth from error is open discussion, comparisons and examination.

The nations are torn apart with hatred and the millions of common people throughout the world, realizing that the route of armament and war has meant the loading of our world with sorrow and anguish, are looking for the route of good will and peace.

The one organization which could furnish the method and vehicle through which this leadership could function to the finest degree, would be the organization which is putting strictures upon the very ones who are working in these causes. On the other hand, if the group which is in control could recognize the opportunity that is theirs, and place the type of men in positions of leadership who would express the economic and moral and spiritual convictions of the race in the strongest and keenest and finest terms, there would come to this nation, a hope, a reality, a material benefit that would prove a boon not only to it but to the nations of the world.

The Hitler, the Mussolini and the Stalin are opposed to criticism, to free speech, the right of assembly, and the free press. They are conducting their governments on a program of hate. They hate something, and hating it, they do not want to hear about it, either from press, or the platform or the pulpit.

If we are going to win for ourselves and the world those priceless institutions and material values that are worth while, we must conduct our program on the basis of justice and good will, and stand for the things that we do, because we have something to love, and that is worthy to love. Out of this chaos, if we let truth lead us, there will come a better day, and we are for giving every man and woman a chance to express themselves as to how that better day can be brought about.

While we have been accused of defending radicals, we would a thousand times rather be accused of that than be accused of denying either a radical or reactionary the right to express himself.

THE MORAL PLEDGE OF THE ALLIES

Some months ago, when the disarmament conference at Geneva was about to convene, attention was called from many sources, to the fact that this conference had to succeed, or chaos would result in Europe. There had been pulling and hauling, and backing and filling by the various nations ever since the treaty was signed, but, after all, there were some plain facts that stood out with such clarity that it was almost unthinkable that the statesmen of the world did not take these facts into account.

In the first place, when, in the treaty of Versailles, it was agreed that Germany should disarm, it was also just as emphatically and specifically agreed by the Allied Nations to that treaty that they in turn would disarm, so as to place them on a parity with Germany. So emphatically did they desire to make this provision that they asked Premier Clemenceau to embody it in a special letter. This was done, and while this did not add any legal force, it did add tremendously to the moral obligation of the nations to adhere to their agreement.

During all these years the problem has been before the nations. There has been every imaginable excuse raised. Technical difficulties have been magnified into insurmountable obstacles. And when the perfectly obvious thing was to carry out the agreement and disarm, Russia was the only nation that came out and frankly made the motion to do so. She was declared "insincere" and "hypocritical" and armaments continued, and in more recent months have gone on apace, certainly in Japan and the United States, and with France at this present hour having more than six million men available, with two million that she could put under arms in twenty-four hours.

We certainly have nothing but condemnation toward Germany's leadership in her attitude toward the Jews of Germany. But when she has insisted that either she have the right to arm, or that the nations stand by their agreement in the treaty, and the implication in the World court, and the definite statement in the letter of Clemenceau, we insist that she stands upon the solid ground of justice and one of those two alternatives the nations of the world must accept. The leaders of Germany can point to those broken promises and violated pledges of the Allies as proof of the injustice which is being meted out to "the Fatherland."

The other plain fact is the injustices of the treaty of Versailles. These are so important and numerous and so well-known that we will not go into them here. But nearly every impartial student of history declared, when the Versailles treaty was signed, that it was unjust; that its provisions were harsh; that its financial burdens upon Germany were impossible; that the so-called "debt" laid upon her never could or would be paid, and that the whole effect would simply breed hatred, misunderstanding and lead to another conflict. All of this is coming to pass.

Senator Borah, who has been for years the chairman of the Foreign Relations committee of the Senate, and probably the outstanding member of that body, in his knowledge of foreign affairs, and his fairness, in part declares:

I have said many times during the last 15 years that there never would be peace in Europe, never be disarmament until the Versailles Treaty was rewritten. It is to be hoped that those directly concerned will seek readjustment through peaceful means, but readjustment in some way must be had, not merely in the interest of a single nation, but in the interest of all nations, in the interest of peace.

An appeal is made to the German nation for a national election at the hour when this crucial decision is before the League of Nations and the disarmament conference. The vote will be all but unanimous in sustaining Hitler upon his proposition.

The people of the other nations all with one voice demand either that the Allies fulfil their agreement, made in the most solemn manner with the Central Powers, or they say "remove the handicaps," so-called, from Germany's power to arm and recruit her fighting forces."

The Law of Compensation

New York Times

Probably most Americans never saw a game of cricket. Many of them must have read the description of the game in "Pickwick Papers." According to Andrew Lang, Dickens made queer mistakes and knew little or nothing about the subject. To our people, the English sport which has become a synonym of fair play and the proper thing to do is ineffectually long-drawn, tedious, uninteresting, devoid of action and excitement.

At the Harvard Stadium the other day twenty-five British engineers saw their first game of American football. Their verdict, a sports writer of The Transcript says, was that the game "is frightfully slow in comparison with English rugby." The "quadrant" puzzled them. When it was explained to them, they said that it "slows up the game." Did a player catch the ball on the kickoff and run? They asked why he didn't "catch the other fellows napping by kicking the ball back." The dogma of the inestimable value of possession of the ball was expounded to them in vain. Rule after rule was recited. They remained dissatisfied. In both American football and baseball, they insisted, the rules are "loaded" against the attacking team. The hands of the football team with the ball are tied: "Just at that moment Fergy Locke, Harvard's speedy quarter-back, broke loose off the Bates left flank and romped fifty-three yards for the Crimson's fourth touchdown."

Most of the British visitors jumped up and shouted. That was "something like." Why don't you have more of it? If they have the fortune to see some of the later and better games, they may be convinced that American football is not so slow. At any rate, they gave American despisers of cricket tit for tat.

The Serene Student of American Universities

San Bernardino Sun

"When Emil Ludwig was here the other day," writes a Chicago columnist, "he wanted to know what part the American university student was playing in the social upheaval. He had to be told that for the most part the university student didn't know that there was one."

It is the literal truth. And most of us are so accustomed to this cheerful indifference of the American student that we accept it as the normal thing. Observant travelers agree that foreign students are much more mature, much more aware of what is going on in the world, and much more interested in it. But then, they do not have our competitive athletics to absorb their mental energy.

The Gooseberry Boys

San Francisco Chronicle

And now along the Mother Lode they are calling the Conservation Corps lads the "gooseberry boys." That is a puzzle to many, but not to the Forest Service. One of the jobs the Conservation Corps has been handed in the Sierra is to pull up all the wild gooseberry and currant bushes. That again is a puzzle to many, but not to the Forest Service.

Gooseberries and currants are the foster parents of the white pine blister rust, which kills our sugar pines. The rust cannot exist without them. No gooseberries or currants, no rust, and the pines live on. Therefore, the gooseberry boys.

THE BEST WAY TO WIN

No athlete ever has been found Who ran as swiftly as a hound.

No human jumper could compare In leaping contests with a hare.

The greatest living pugilist Would fall before a lion's fist.

Nor would the ablest football star Attempt to throw a grizzly b'ar.

So why should humans strive and strain When well they know they cannot gain?

The mastery of feral brutes In merely muscular pursuits?

I'd rather lie beneath the trees Or on verandas take my ease.

Than run the very risky chance Of racing yaks or elephants.

Or on athletic fields to cope With any elk or antelope.

It seems to me more wise for man To do the kind of things he can.

Than vainly striving to exceed The greyhound in a test of speed.

Or in endeavoring to lay low The burly bulky buffalo.

When reputation he can gain By merely working with his brain.

NEVER AGAIN!

THE LESS PEOPLE HAVE, THE MORE WILLING THEY ARE TO GIVE IT TO OTHERS. THIS IS ESPECIALLY TRUE OF INFORMATION.

You can tell whether an American mob is trying to lynch a man or honor him. In the latter case he nearly always gets well.

Ah, well; in this great rich country, prosperity will eventually return in spite of all recovery plans. It's easy to win public confidence. You just choose a leader who cusses vigorously.

AMERICANISM: Growing because a man with money is treated better than others; fighting through a mob to get a glimpse of a rich guy.

It is easy to avoid making enemies. You just yes everybody you know.

Look at those dreadful, backward Russians. They can't even make jobs scarce enough to fit the demand. Cleverness can't be hidden. If your gags are good, some famous guy will use them. And take credit for them.

HAPPINESS REQUIRES CONTRAST. IT TAKES A TOOTHACHE TO MAKE THE TOOTH FEEL GOOD WHEN THE ACHE STOPS.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

IF WE COULD MAKE IT UNANIMOUS

If we could only make it unanimous!

This wonder and this wish haunt me as I watch the varied factors hovering over the problematic future of the national recovery program. There are so many points in the Roosevelt program that the business men think bad that would prove good if everybody turned to and played the game. And there are so many points in the Roosevelt program that the economists think good that will turn out bad if but a fraction of us play the game.

The higher-wage-shorter-hour-more-workers program will prove workable for small enterprises as well as large if we unanimously back it, for we shall then really thrust purchasing power abreast of productive power. But this program may well bankrupt a thousand and one enterprises with narrow reserves of cash and credit if laggards and chiselers leave the total new purchasing power of the country limping.

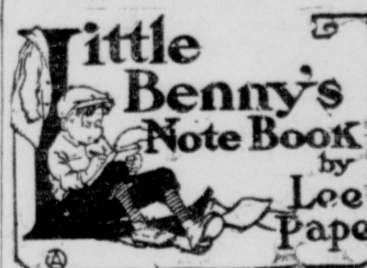

The more I burrow into the Roosevelt program the more it seems to me to depend for full success upon virtually unanimous action by the whole people. This is why, for all my reservations respecting this and that aspect of the program, I have thrown myself fully into its support, giving freely of my time at great personal sacrifice of energy and money, to its promotion on the platform, in the press and over the radio.

This is why, as a Republican, I have had no sympathy with partisan sniping at the national leadership. The stakes are large. The sort of nation in which my son will have to lay the foundations of his career is involved.

We shall never see a national program that is 100 per cent sound as a matter of all-time economics. And we shall never see a national leadership that will not gladly yield its program to correction in the light of experience on the demand of a people that is wholly and willingly cooperating with it. We have little to lose and large gains in the offing if we turn to as a people and make it unanimous for the national recovery program. That unanimity of action will bring full results from every part of the Roosevelt program that is essentially sound, and it will set the stage for a swift weeding out of its ultimately unworkable elements.

The complexity of the modern situation cries aloud for unanimous action. Democracy is so often but a sterile warfare of factions. The people blindly sense this need for national unity beyond parties and beyond classes and beyond special group interests. It is this that breeds Mussolinis and Hitlers, if the larger and the lesser can thus be joined in a single phrase. It remains to be seen whether we can achieve the needed national unity without paying a dictator. Copyright, 1933, McClure Newspaper-Syn.

TO THE MOVIES

"There's a grand play on, ma. Can I go?" "Where to? Is it a movie? O, you've been to the movies so much—I should think you'd get tired of them. You'd better stay home and do your homework."

"It's all done. I did it in study hour this afternoon."

"Well, I suppose you won't be happy unless you go but I do think—"

So do I. High school boys and girls seek altogether too many movies. Some of them think that the day they do not see a show has been lost. What they get out of it all is a question. Very little, it seems to me. They have a shadowy idea of the story, a keen appreciation of the noise and color and smartness of the chief actors, and little else. Sometimes I think they use the movies as they used to use story books, and find them more effective—as pacifiers. Anything to get away from the round of lessons and chores and routine. Youth wants adventure, wants to taste life and here is an easy, safe way of doing it. What happens to them in the meantime is a question we need to study more carefully than we have.

The movie ought to be a source of joy and benefit to the children. We have been assured by those who are responsible for them that they are going to be just that, some day. That day seems long in coming. The same old mixture of warped love, impossible adventures, impossible and misleading solutions. The children are excited, their emotions stirred, their appetites for experiment and adventure whetted, and then they go home and let down. What wonder is it that they find home dreary, school flat, and life a tale that is droned to minors and flats. The imagination of Youth lends reality to the show and the actualities of life cheat them of it. The whole thing is unhealthy.

Now and again a good show comes along. Somebody has found life good, wholesome, gay and adventurous and flavored with a high quality of the spirit. Then the movies come into their own. Then the children go home and spend their stirred emotions in wholesome worthwhile fashion. They see the family and neighbors and the ordinary happenings in the rosy light of a youthful spirit. Humble duties, daily sacrifice in the service of others take on the beauty that belong to them. The children find life is good.

Why can't the movies always be like that? Because, I think, it is easier to write plays that skim the surface of life than it is to deal with its underlying forces that create the drama, the tragedy and comedy that is our life. The creative artist who deals with the realities of the spirit, suffers; the craftsman who arranges scenes adding a dash of sex, a pinch of pain, a touch of sorrow, a handful of noise and a painful of swirl suffers not at all. But the mess he turns out does the children precious little good.

What can we do about it? Stay away from the shows that are shoddy in such numbers as to shock the promoters.

(Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three-cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply.) (Copyright, 1933, The Bell Syn., Inc.)
